Ashbrook Flays Heckler, Steals Rally Spotlight

Veteran Congressman Renews His Attack On 'Fantastic Townsend Plan;' Sawyer Tells 1,000 Here He's Ready to Produce Proof of 'Deal' Between Bricker and Davey.

Charles Sawyer, Democratic gubernatorial nominee, and U. S. Senator Robert J. Bulkley, candidate for re-election, were the principal speakers at a district rally here Saturday night, but it was left for William A. Ashbrook, veteran congressman from the 17th district who spoke only briefly, to grab the spotlight.

At Ashbrook's mention of his opposition to the Townsend plan as he started to address a crowd of more than 1,000 at Democratic headquarters on West Fourth street, he was interrupted by hecklers for the second time within three days.

"No Townsendite tonight will squelch me," Ashbrook told his hecklers, "and if you don't shut up I'll talk half an hour about the fantastic plan." This brought a hearty round of applause from the audience.

Immediately the congressman renewed an attack on the Townsend plan and his opponent, Walter B. Woodward of Bellville, avowed Townsendite running on the G. O. P. ticket.

'Exonerates' Republicans.

"Woodward says he has a platform," Ashbrook asserted. "But he gained the nomination on the Republican ticket. The Republicans didn't elect him. In fact, I exonerate the Republicans from that fraud.

"Woodward says he has a platform of six planks. These six planks are but bubbles to be pricked by a pin unless we have the Townsend plan.

"My advice to you," Ashbrook said, "is to take a pin and prick that bubble and let Walter Woodward remain where he is down there in Bellville on the broad acres of his farm where he won't bother anyone with crazy ideas like the Townsend plan."

Ashbrook then explained as he did in Ashland last Thursday that the levying of a two per cent transaction tax to support the plan would mean levying 22 billions of dollars annually on 85 per cent of the people to give to the other 15 per cent.

Sawyer Renews Charge.

Renewing his charge that an "unholy alliance" existed between his Republican opponent, John W. Bricker and Gov. Martin L. Davey, whom he said had been promised a 30 per cent cut in the state patronage for his support, Sawyer asserted he was ready to present proof of that statement and that "I'm going to present that proof next week."

Commenting further on his charge that Davey has joined the Bricker compaign forces, Sawyer said "if you look in the political bed and turn back the covers you'll find Davey, Ed Schorr (State Republican executive committee chairman) and Bricker.

Sawyer branded as "nonsense" the charge made by Bricker that he was aligned with the Communist party.

"My opponent has charged me with associating with the Communists," Sawyer said, "and I wouldn't even know one if I saw one.

"As a matter of fact, my opponent

LUNCHEON – Gossip 'Out' As Women Dine and Talk Politics

When 400 women are crowded into one room for a luncheon meeting there's bound to be conversation and lots of it, but when it's a political campaign luncheon, the talk is not of the common garden variety, but of issues and of candidates. The silly hat that Mrs. So-and-So is wearing this season may be fitting chatter for a bridge luncheon—but not for a political luncheon.

And so the women who gathered at the Mansfield-Leland hotel ballroom Saturday noon—and gathered and gathered until the very walls bulged—talked of things of serious import—including not only the political war between their standard bearer—Charles Sawyer, candidate for governor, whom they had come to hear, and his Republican opponent, John W. Bricker, but the under-the-surface battle between Sawyer and Governor Martin L. Davey.

That was after Sawyer had re-

PARLEY – Republicans Gather To Map Final Drive Strategy

County Republican leaders were ready to go on the offense today in their drive for votes, as veteran G. O. P. leaders planned to meet this afternoon at headquarters to map strategy for the last two weeks of the campaign.

"From now on, it will be a campaign of offense and not defense," Ralph M. Hardy, executive committee chairman, said, adding that "we are through answering charges that don't need answering."

He cited a statement made by William A. Ashbrook, Democratic candidate for congress, in Mansfield Saturday night, that Ashbrook did not hold the Republicans responsible for the nomination of Walter B. Woodward, Townsend candidate for congress on the Republican ticket.

Repeating that the entire county Republican organization is backing Woodward, Hardy added

OHIO: Sawyer Offers 'Proof' Of 'Deal'; Bricker Hits Relief

(By International News Service)

COLUMBUS—Redoubling their vote-getting efforts in a final two-weeks' push, heads of the Democratic and Republican tickets today continued their campaigns in widely scattered sections of the state.

Charles Sawyer, Democratic candidate for governor, offered a sworn statement as proof of what he claimed is an "unholy alliance" between Governor Davey and John W. Bricker, Republican candidate for governor, in a speech at Wilmington today.

Bricker set out for Belmont county for rallies at Barnesville and Bellaire and a radio address at 6:30 p. m. from a Wheeling, W. Va., station after condemning stop-gap relief measures in a Cleveland address yesterday.

"I never knowingly have made an unfair or false statement about anyone," said Sawyer. "When I brought into the open the 70-30 deal which Mr. Bricker has made, I based my charge on sworn statements and not on hearsay."

Sawyer did not announce the names of state employes who

BRITISH SHIP DAMAGED

Seamen Charge Jap Bombers Aimed at Vessel; Drive on Hankow Continues.

(By United Press)

Japan's great war machine, pounding toward a triumphant climax in the conquest of China, clashed again today with interests of the United States and Great Britain.

While Japanese artillery and airplanes hammered down the inner defenses of Hankow, the representatives of Tokyo detained the American steamship President Coolidge as it prepared to leave Shanghai with about $4,500,000 worth of silver for the United States.

Guards on Boat.

A United States marine guard went aboard the vessel pending settlement of controversy created by Japanese suspension of the Coolidge's clearance authorization.

Far up the Yangtse, at Hankow, the British river gunboat Sandpiper was damaged seriously by bomb splinters which its officers reported were deliberately aimed at the little vessel by six Japanese bombers which flew overhead half an hour before dropping their explosives.

Britain protested to the Japanese, who said there must have been some mistake as the bombers were seeking only military objectives. Probably 1,000 Chinese refugees were killed by Japanese bombing planes which sank small steamships on the Yangtse near Yochow, about 100 miles above Hankow.

Peace Gesture?

Another reason for the explosion of the bombs near the Sandpiper was rumored. It was pointed out that Britain, reportedly in cooperation with Germany, had been seeking to open negotiations for mediation of the Chinese conflict and the increasing peril to British vessels was viewed by some quarters as a Japanese gesture intended to speed up negotiation for peace.

Canton, with many blocks of business districts burning, was in Japanese hands and the fall of Hankow seemed only a few days away. There were persistent rumors that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek was resigning in favor of former Premier Wang Ching-Wei, thus opening the way for an armistice.

HITS SULKING

Donahey Hands Davey Dig in Promising Campaign Aid.

COLUMBUS — (U.P.) — A letter from U. S. Senator Vic Donahey to Attorney General Herbert S. Duffy of Ohio revealed today that the junior senator probably will campaign actively for the state ticket several days before the Nov. 8 election.

Sen. Donahey wrote from Washington that he will return to Ohio next Saturday and remain for several days.

"I am preparing a plan which I believe will greatly aid the state and legislative tickets," Senator Donahey wrote. "I am sure you will let me handle this matter in my own way as I do want to be helpful, especially when our good governor is sulking in his tent. When a man becomes bigger than his party, he ought to be retired to private life where he can form his own party."

New Yorker Gets Congratulations From Roosevelt, Lehman.

NEW YORK—(INS)—Despite his 113 years, Benjamin Kotlowitz felt "young and important" today.

And the reason for Kotlowitz's feelings were congratulatory messages sent on his birthday anniversary by President Roosevelt, Governor Herbert Lehman and Mayor F. H. LaGuardia. To demonstrate he was the happiest "young man" in the Bronx, Kotlowitz swung into the Kazatsky, the traditional Jewish dance.

ESCAPE COUNTY HOME, CAUGHT

Boys Picked Up at Perrysville After All Night Hike; Say They Were 'Picked On.'

Two youths who had ideas about life as knights of the road were held in the county detention home today following their apprehension in Perrysville a few hours after they fled the Richland county children's home.

As wards of the court they were to be called before Judge C. J. Anderson today for questioning in connection with the theft of clothing and blankets valued at $25 which they had taken with them, part of which had been cached.

The boys, one 14 and the other 15, were taken into custody about 7 a. m. yesterday by Marshal J. F. Robertson at Perrysville, who found them resting in an alley after an all night hike from the institution.

Deputy Sheriff Glenn P. Freeman who brought the boys back to Mansfield said they told him that older boys at the home were "mean" to them and were always "picking on them." They said they had no idea where they were going, but just wanted to get away.

H. C. Downs, superintendent of the institution however, had a different story. He said that both boys were "bad" and that he had had some previous trouble with the younger of the pair.

This was verified by Judge Anderson who said that the 14-year-old boy only two weeks ago had been returned to the home after spending a short term at the Juvenile Research bureau in Columbus.

The pair, Downs said, had packed the clothing and blankets and escaped late Saturday night. They were found to be missing from the dormitory at 6 a. m. yesterday.

The youths told Freeman that they had hiked all night and had hidden part of the clothing in a woods south of Mansfield when they became "tired" of carrying the extra garments.

Juvenile Officer Ralph Carroll accompanied by one of the boys started out on a search for the missing clothing this morning.

Special Officer Gets Assignment To Watch Family.

LANNION, France — (AP) — A special police inspector was given a permanent assignment here today, apparently to watch over the security of Col. Charles A. Lindberg and his family.

Lannion is only about 12 miles from the small town on France's northern coast, Port-Blanc, where the American aviator takes a launch back and forth to his home on Illiec island.

"Spiritual Urge" Slaying Leads To Jail For Man, Wife

HOUGHTON, Mich.—(AP)—The sheriff of Houghton county today held a man and his wife accused of killing their 19-year-old housekeeper with a flatiron at their residence in nearby Dollar Bay to satisfy a spiritual urge.

The victim was Marian Doyle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Doyle of Hancock, Mich.

In custody are Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Pichette, each 35 years old.

The slaying was discovered after the Pichettes went to a Calumet, Mich., priest and informed him that they exerted a mysterious "power" over a victim at their home. The priest notified Sheriff John G. Salmi of Houghton and he went to the Dollar Bay home, found the young woman dead and arrested the Pichettes.

Miss Doyle's head was crushed and her neck broken.

Investigators said they were informed that Pichette, recently employed on a PWA project, once paid $2,000 to some gypsies in exchange for a mystic power he believed they conferred upon him.

BOY, 3, SAFE

Returned Home After New York Gets Kidnap Scare.

NEW YORK — (INS) — Dispelling Long Island's latest "kidnap" scare, the 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbour Tripp was returned safely today to his home in suburban Floral park.

The boy, Dean Tripp, returned in the arms of George W. O'Connell, 36, a former U. S. marine, who had taken the lad out on a shopping tour last Saturday. O'Connell has been living at the Tripp home for more than a year.

O'Connell hurried the boy to the Tripp home immediately after leaving a train at the Floral park station. An examination of how O'Connell and the boy had spent the week-end was expected shortly.

DEALER HELD IN FORGERY CASE

Norwalk Auto Agent Accused of Defrauding Finance Firm Here of $5,000.

Sheriff E. P. Long today sought to return Harry N. Bedell, 42, Norwalk automobile dealer, to Mansfield to face charges of obtaining more than $5,000 from the Mansfield office of the Crawford Finance company under false pretenses.

Bedell was to be arraigned today in Huron county common pleas court on an indictment for forgery, and Sheriff Long said he would ask for his release to Richland county authorities immediately after the hearing.

With six warrants filed against him by Edwin C. Dee, president of the finance company, Bedell is accused of presenting false mortgages and notes to the company to obtain financing of automobile sales that were never made.

Bedell's secretary, Caroline Borgia, also of Norwalk, who is held in the Huron county jail on a forgery charge, is named in the warrants as his accomplice in the alleged acts of fraud.

The warrants charge that Bedell presented notes and mortgages on automobiles which he allegedly had sold, as security for loans from the finance company in Mansfield. Investigation revealed, however, the warrants state, that the sales were never made and that the notes and mortgages were fictitious.

The transactions cited in the warrants were handled by the finance company during the past six months, and Sheriff Long said he had been informed other similar transactions had been performed previous to the ones mentioned.

The amounts involved, it was said, would run "into several thousand dollars."

SALT LAKE CITY — (INS) — Utah's big game hunting season entered its fifth day today with a death toll of four persons after a man and a woman were killed by deer hunters yesterday.

County in Dilemma as Bills for Care of T. B. Patients Pile Up

Thirteen tuberculosis patients from Mansfield and Richland county, are literally, "in hock" at sanitariums and hospitals over the state because county commissioners do not have the funds with which to pay their hospital bills and at least seven of them are too ill to be moved.

And to add to the commissioner's dilemma, bills at the hospitals are piling up at the rate of $750 a month.

Dr. Roy Rehder, health commissioner, said today that 11 other patients who are seriously ill have been taken out of institutions and brought home recently because there was no money to give them treatments and hospital care. In at least one instance a patient is in his own home in which there are small children.

County commissioners said that they are powerless to remedy the situation. Chairman C. L. Mitchell pointed out that up to Sept. 1, $18,563 had been spent on tuberculosis patients in hospitals and nursing homes since Jan. 1, which was considerably more than had been provided in the county budget, and that patients' bills have not been paid since Sept. 1.

Of the 13 patients that are still in institutions, seven are critically ill and cannot be moved, while six are at Mt. Vernon State sanitarium.

At the present number of patients hospitalized the indebtedness will increase at the rate of $720 per month. The cost at Mt.

City Misses Snowstorm But Not Cold

Day's Coldest This Fall and Mercury's Due to Go Lower Tonight.

A storm which blanketed sections of Michigan and Wisconsin with heavy snow over the week-end passed up the Mansfield area today, but it brought the coldest day of the fall season to the city.

From a low of 36 degrees early this morning, the mercury climbed only six degrees to 42 at noon and the lowest temperature of the season was in prospect for this area tonight.

8-Inch Snow Reported.

The cold wave accompanied a 40-mile gale and an eight-inch snowfall which struck parts of northern Wisconsin and northern Michigan, disrupting communication lines and blocking roads. Rising tempreatures today in the stricken areas left slush ankle deep in many sections.

While temperatures remained near freezing in most of the midwest, the mercury dropped to 15 degrees at Oklahoma City for a brief period Saturday night. It was 15 above today at Huron, S. D., the coldest spot in the nation.

The snowstorm, which isolated a number of Michigan and Wisconsin towns, covered an area from Chicago northward into Canada.

Forecasters said the storm area was moving eastward today over the Great Lakes region and that it would be followed by fair and warmer weather. Temperature readings were below normal today in virtually all sections of the midwest from the Rocky mountains east to Ohio.

A lumber barge carrying seven men, which had been reported lost yesterday on northern Lake Michigan, was located at Beaver island. Members of the crew said they had taken shelter from the heavy seas.

A power failure attributed to the storm, caused a temporary shut-down of factories in Red Wing, Minn., and Phillips, Wis., was without power for 12 hours.

WARS ON ACT

NRA Defier Thumbs Nose at New Wage-Hour Law.

YORK, Pa.—(AP)—Fred C. Perkins, battery firm owner who was jailed briefly in 1933 on a charge of violating the national recovery act, thumbed his nose today at the new federal wage-hour law, effective last midnight.

"I cannot afford to abide by it," he said in a statement to the Gazette and Daily, "and I defy them to enforce it.

"If they attempt to crush me, I will do my level best to put their impractical notions to the acid test of public opinion in every hamlet in America."

Perkins was convicted for NRA violations during the "crack down" days of Gen. Hugh S. Johnon, first recovery administrator. He appealed to a higher court, but before the appeal was heard the U. S. supreme court ruled NRA unconstitutional.

CHARGES TRAIN WRECK PLANNED

Road Official Says Switch Lock Tampered With; 15 Hurt.

McHENRY, Ill.—(AP)—A road official said today that the wreck of a Chicago and Northwestern railroad passenger train here last night apparently was deliberately planned.

Fifteen persons were injured, none seriously, when the three-car train was derailed after striking an open switch.

W. A. Kraemer, division superintendent, said the lock on the switch apparently had been picked, the switch opened and then relocked in that position.

11 MILLIONS AFFECTED BY REGULATIONS

25-Cent Pay Minimum, 44-Hour Week Hailed 'Pillar of Sound Economic System.'

ANDREWS EXPLAINS PLAN

Act Guards Employers Against Ruinous Competitors, Says Federal Administrator.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Far-reaching federal labor standards went into effect today, putting a floor under the wages and a ceiling over the hours of an estimated 11,000,000 American working men.

This regulation of virtually all persons in interstate commerce represented the broadest industrial legislation since the NRA.

Administrator Elmer F. Andrews took time from cleaning up a multitude of details to tell a nation-wide radio audience that the new program was not designed to "hound business," but should become a pillar of a sound economic system.

'Protection Purpose.'

"Its purpose is to protect business," he said, "to guard decent employers against the ruinous competitors whose only weapon is low prices based upon low wages and long hours for those who produce their goods.

"Its further purpose, and I think its most far-reaching purpose, is to assure a steady stream of purchasing power in this country."

The major provisions of the new statute as as follows:

1. A minimum wage of 25 cents an hour is established. This will be raised to 30 cents Oct. 24, 1939, and to 40 cents after Oct., 1945.

2. The maximum work week is fixed at 44 hours, to be reduced to 42 hours after Oct. 24, 1939, and to 40 hours after Oct. 24, 1940. Employment above these levels must be compensated for in cash at time and a half rates.

Employment Prohibited.

3. Employment is prohibited of children under 16 in a mining or manufacturing occupation, and for children under 18 in an industry declared to be hazardous. Limited employment is permitted for children 14 or 15 in other industries.

The act exempts either in whole or in part seasonal industries, certain agricultural occupations, pro-

'Modern Marriage' of Ohioans Leaves New York Gasping

NEW YORK—(AP)—An Antioch (Ohio) college teacher and pupil gave New York something to gasp at today with an original ultra-modern marriage ceremony.

There was a ring and a kiss but the rest was new as Lynton Appleberry, 33, social science instructor at the Yellow Springs, O., college, married Valeska Becker who was graduated from Antioch last year.

They stood before Dr. Charles F. Potter, leader of the First Humanist society, a liberal religious group, Sunday and Appleberry said in part:

"Valeska and I have wanted our wedding ceremony to be as beautiful and meaningful as possible . . . may we have honesty, understanding, fineness, beauty, and love in our life together."

The bride replied "with all that you think and feel and do, I am in tune. Together we shall live, work and play; together shall explore the universe."

Dr. Potter declared "for years I have advocated such a change in the traditional ceremony. Simply to make it legal, I shall say . . . I pronounce them husband and wife."

Hobbies Promote Good Feeling

One In a Series.
By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage.

A hobby has saved many a jittery marriage, headed for the rocks. Encourage hobbies and outside interests — don't quarrel with them.

What Makes Marriage Successful?

But remember, there are times that try people's souls and tempers. Heaped-up worries scourge most of us into the slough of despond. It's a good thing to have an outside interest to call us away from that particular quagmire, even for a little while.

Nothing restores poise and offers a perch to the dove of peace, in a worry-torn household, like some wholesome outside interest or a hobby.

If hiking, swimming, golfing or some other hearty form of exercise appeals to the good man, please send him off with a smile. His anxieties may leave scant room for a smile, when he departs, but the exercise will put to rout his blue devils and his own particular Fear Demon, whatever it may be. Exercise will wear down the fine edge of his ill-humor.

Of course, anxious times are as hard on women as they are on men. Perhaps even harder, for there are no minimum hours for housewives. Their day begins early and ends late, combining the functions of housekeeper, nurse, cook, laundress, seamstress—and always diplomat.

If a woman has a shred of energy left, after her multiple household jobs, it's not only humane but decent to speed her to that outside interest, whatever it may be—cards, visits, movies, music or what have you.

The dependable solution of an outside interest or hobby to grease the domestic wheels, is brought to grief so often by a jealousy as stupid as it is unreasonable. Husbands and wives are jealous of they know not what, but it comes — the green-eyed monster.

Presumably people marry for companionship, and they have a right to feel aggrieved if one or the other is left lonesome the greater part of the time. But equally, every man and every woman has a right to an evening out and a chance to pursue the life-saver—an outside interest. The chief thing wrong with marriage is its possessiveness. The outside interest or hobby makes us all easier to live with, and gives us something to talk about, helps to give us our individual place in the sun.

Tuberous rooted begonias may be carried along from one year to another if the tubers are properly cared for. Plants growing in beds should be lifted, dried and packed in sand or sawdust. The tubers should be stored in boxes and placed in a room or cellar with a temperature kept close to 50 degrees. They should be started into growth in late February or March. Plants which have been growing in pots should be dried off gradually and then stored in a dark place with a temperature at 50. Of course, the plants or tubers should be taken indoors before hard frosts come.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

Avis Arlen apparently was thoroughly cowed by my renewed threat to telephone Philip Veritzen. There was no hint of belligerence in her as she meekly answered my ultimatum.

"Just tell me what to say, and I'll say it," she said. "You hold all the winning cards. I can't do anything else but obey you."

"You'd better not try," I told her significantly, then swept hastily on with my instructions.

Gives Instructions.

"Straighten your hair, put on your hat and coat, and compose your features," I told her. "I'm going back to the hall door and tell Mr. Milner that I was so surprised to see you in the hall tonight, and insisted that you come in for a little chat, as I had not seen you for so long. I shall let him think we are old and affectionate friends. Do you wish to see him or shall I give him a message from you?"

"I'd rather not see him now," she said slowly. "I'll have to think up some excuse for not coming back so he won't talk to Uncle Phil. It's all a fearful mess, any way you look at it."

"That does not tell me your message," I said coldly.

"Tell him I've decided to stay at the hotel the rest of the night," she said, "and will see him in the morning. Say, please, that I'm terribly tired tonight."

Acts Surprised.

"Very well," I rejoined "Stay here quietly, and do not come out unless I call you. If he insists upon seeing you—"

"He won't," she said confidently, and on the word I went back to the living room of the big suite and switched on the light. Then, going to the door, I flung it open, and stepped back as if surprised at the sight of the hotel manager standing with his back to the elevator.

"Oh! Mr. Milner," I said. "How you startled me! I was just going over to the other suite"—I indicated the one Avis had occupied with an airy wave of my hand—"but I had no idea of meeting you."

"No, I dare say not," he said dryly. "But I do not understand about the other suite."

"Oh!" I said, affecting confusion. "I mean the one from which my old friend, Miss Arlen, came a little while ago. I happened to open my door just as she came out of the room, and I fancy she was as surprised to see me as I was to see her. Of course, I insisted that she come in here, and we were chatting cozily of old times when you rapped."

"Were you, indeed?" he retorted with unpleasant suavity. "Now I was under the impression that you were just awakened from sleep."

Milner Accusing.

"One gets an erroneous impression so easily," I murmured. "But I think I owe you an apology, nevertheless. I suppose when you were inquiring about the somnambulistic young woman, I should have told you Miss Arlen was in our apartment. And yet, I do not quite see—" I paused as if confused.

"You told me no strange young woman was in your suite," he said with as much accusation in his voice as he dared put there.

"I told you the truth," I said loftily. "Miss Arlen is no stranger to me. But I see clearly now that I should have told you about her. It might have eased your mind."

I smiled cryptically at him, saw his poise slip ever so slightly, and hurried on.

"But I have a message for you from Miss Arlen," I said sweetly.

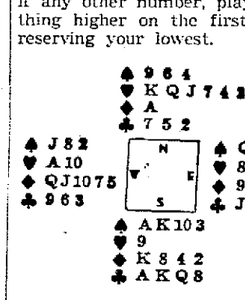
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay
"The Authority on Authorities"

TELL HIM THE STORY

DON'T LEAVE YOUR partner groping in the dark if you are able to tell him the news he wants to know. When the declarer starts to run a suit which is solid except for the ace, your partner, if holding it, wants to know whether to hold it up or take it at once. You can tell him. Indicate the length of your holding, and he then knows how many cards the declarer has. If you have exactly three, play the lowest and next the middle one; if any other number, play something higher on the first round, reserving your lowest.



(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

Three tables of duplicate produced different play at no trump game contracts by South, West in each case leading the diamond Q. At the first table, the declarer, after winning with the diamond A, led the heart K to the second trick, East played the 2 and West held up his ace, reading his partner for three cards, declarer two. Declarer then ran four clubs, two spades and another diamond for game.

At the second table, East played the heart 8 on the second trick, West could tell that this was not East's lowest, as then South would have had four and would have raised hearts. If East played a higher-than-lowest card, therefore not having three, he had either two or four. If two, West's play made no difference, but if four, declarer had a singleton. So West won the first heart trick, returned a diamond and the contract was now impossible.

At the third table, declarer forgot hearts and finessed the spade 10 to the J on the second trick. He thus got three tricks in spades, two in diamonds and four in clubs, without counting on any mistake by the opponents but on a lucky division of two suits.

Today's Fashion

Smart Early Autumn Costume.

ONE OF the prizes of a well-known shop is a splendid three-piece costume, ideal for travel and general early autumn wear. It is a nubby tweed in rust brown, with lining, gilet and collar of dark brown, smooth woolen. The coat has a rolled collar of the dark brown woolen, the under side being of the rust tweed. The revers, squared in contrast to the rounded collar, terminate at the waist, where two flap pockets are jauntily placed. Squared shoulders and a fitted bodice are other smart accents.

HOROSCOPE

For Tuesday, Oct. 25.

Judging by the lunar transits, this may be a day that will be encouraging to all manner of new projects of a highly-constructive nature, and this despite certain detriments, obstacles or opposition. The latter may come from elders or those in important positions, but determination, energy and enterprise are likely to win the day and with flying colors. Tact, diplomacy or strategy would not be amiss.

Those whose birthday it is will find themselves in a year of opportunity for engaging their initiative and skill in constructive lines of a rather important character. This is forecast despite the hostility of influential personages. Enterprise and determination may win support of the "opposition camp."

A child born on this day may be enterprising, aggressive, persistent and practical, winning its way by hard work and application rather than through financial aids or speculative enterprises. Its manner may incite hostility.

THEATERS

MICKEY ROONEY'S swift rise to fame and popularity has brought its problems. He is, after all, only a boy, and all the attention he receives has made him pretty cocky, so that at times he's a problem to his studio. He's also been accused of mugging on the screen, which is also an attribute of youth—the tendency to overact. In "The Hardys Out West," which is in production, he's said to do a very grown-up piece of work. But on the other hand, his popularity has been due largely to the fact that he has been himself and left the acting to others.

Brunet Addition.

Representing a change of tradition for the Merry Marx Brothers, the jolly trio is equipped with a come-hither brunet as well as a vibrant blond in "Room Service," thus adding an additional lovely foil for their insane antics. Ann Miller is the brunet and Lucille Ball is the blond who evades Harpo's clutches. The stage comedy provides the trio with its meatiest plot to date. In fact there is more plot and less gags. At the Madison.

* * *

Ohio Attraction.

Although she is just a newcomer Ann Miller will bear watching, everything points to a career for her. She's on two screens in Mansfield this week, both in Class A pictures, for she plays the ballet-dancing daughter of the daffy Sycamores in "You Can't Take It With You." She's the gal who studies the dance for years and years, and just studies and studies. Lionel Barrymore is the hit of the show, with fine performances by Edward Arnold, James Stewart, Jean Arthur and others.

* * *

Tangled Skein.

Shown for the first time in Mansfield is Kay Frances' latest picture, "Secrets of an Actress," which opens Tuesday at the Majestic. The story is a tangled skein of four lives, two women and two men; a theatrical producer, a scenic architect, the actress, and the wife of one of them. George Brent and Ian Hunter are the men and Gloria Dickson, who came to pictures from the Federal Theater Project, is the other woman.

* * *

Character Actor Featured.

Robert Armstrong, character actor, holds the center of attention at the Park theater for he has the leading male role in both features. In "The Night Hawk" he has a gangster role whose weak moment is a kid brother. June Travis is the target for the affections of both the gangster and a reporter as played by Robert Livingston. The second feature is a re-issue of "King Kong" the sensational picture of several years ago in which a great ape plays a leading role.

Treatment For Skin Blemishes

By MME. QUI VIVE

Enlarged pores make many a complexion unsightly. They're a long time coming and they're a long time going. Casual face washing in childhood may bring about that condition. A diet that contains too much fat is often responsible. The heavy eater, who sticks to meat and potatoes, doesn't have enough green salads vegetables and fruits; usually has a coarse skin. The digestive tract has much to do with the facial coating and how it gets along through the years.

Blackheads come through neglect, not using enough soap and warm water. They may disappear after a course of treatment, but the walls of the pores have been stretched and are indentations.

It's no good to fancy that a few weeks of attention will bring back the fine-textured skin of childhood. Treatment must be prolonged. The diet must be balanced, plenty of water should be taken each day. Overweight is to be avoided. Taking on a surplus of fat sometimes changes the character of the skin as it is stretched over the adipose cushions.

The first rule: avoid hot applications. When washing the face have the water just warm enough to fluff up a suds. Follow with a cold rinsing, use an astringent. Witch hazel is a good old timer. Eau de Cologne serves and there are all kinds of tonic lotions to be found on cosmetic counters. If you wish to compound your own, mix together one ounce of witch hazel, one-fourth ounce of powdered boric acid and one-half pint of camphor water. Apply twice a day.

To get results it is necessary to avoid fried meats, rich pastries, fried vegetables. Butter and cream should be cut down but not deleted from the daily bill of fare. Bonbons should be limited to two or three a day, taken after luncheon or dinner.

While creamy cosmetics are necessary to keep the skin smooth, it is advisable not to let them remain on overnight as they are relaxing to the pores. Ironing with ice is of value. It perks up the blood streams, helps to bring conditions to normal. Heavy oily powders are to be avoided.

In making white sauce, put the required amount of milk into saucepan, throw the flour on top lightly and beat it in with egg beater. Then add butter and salt and cook as usual. This is easier than trying to mix flour with butter or stir it into the milk, and it makes a perfectly smooth sauce.

New Type Casserole Meals

By IRENE OBERLIN
(Home Service Department of the Ohio Public Service Company.)

Sometimes we need only a bit of a suggestion to start new menu ideas teeming in the head. The casserole dish like that given below uses up the leftovers and fits into any meal. In place of lamb you can use any other leftover meat or rice instead of spaghetti and of course any leftover vegetables you happen to have.

Savory Casserole.

2 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon flour
1 can onion soup
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1—8-oz. pkg. spaghetti (cooked)
1½ cups diced cooked lamb
1 green pepper (cut fine)
1 slice pimento (cut fine)
1 cup leftover vegetables
½ cup grated cheese

Melt butter, stir in flour, cook to a light brown, add onion soup, salt and pepper, cook for 10 minutes. Toss all other ingredients together and add the liquid mixture. Bake in a greased casserole 375° for 1 hour.

Meringue Spice Cake.

1⅓ cup cake flour
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon cloves
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup butter
1 cup brown sugar
1 egg and 1 egg yolk
½ cup sour milk

Sift dry ingredients together, cream well the butter and sugar, add beaten eggs, add dry ingredients alternately with milk, bake in loaf cake pan and top with meringue made of 1 beaten white and ½ cup brown sugar. A few nut meats if you like. 350° for 35 to 40 minutes.

Orange Souffle Pie.

1 cup orange juice
1 lemon, grated rind and juice
4 tablespoons flour
1 cup sugar
3 eggs

Combine the flour and ¾ cup sugar with a little of the fruit juice. Heat the remainder of juice and add the thickening. Cook 10 minutes or so on low heat. Add the egg yolks (beaten) and cook a few more minutes. When the first mixture has cooled add the stiffly beaten egg whites to which was added the remaining ¼ cup sugar. When cooled pour into a baked pastry shell. May be served with whipped cream and a garnish of orange sections.

Bran Pastry Shell.

¾ cup all bran
1½ cup flour
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup shortening
5 tablespoons cold water (more if necessary)

Roll the all bran until fine and combine with flour and salt. Cut in shortening, add water a little at a time. Roll as any pie dough and prick well with a fork. Makes two pastry shells. Bake at 450° for 10 to 15 minutes.

Salad Bowl.

1 head lettuce
1 can string beans
3 tomatoes
2 cups diced cooked potatoes
1 can flaked fish
1 purple onion (sliced)
3 hard cooked eggs
½ cup mustard pickle
1 garlic bud (minced)
¾ cup mazola
½ teaspoon sugar
¼ cup vinegar
¾ teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper

Break up washed lettuce and arrange in salad bowl. Arrange alternate layers of beans, tomatoes cut in eighths, potatoes, fish, onion and egg. Beat remaining ingredients together thoroughly and pour over mixture in bowl. Toss with a fork

Beginner's Muffins.

1 cup sifted flour
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
2 tablespoons sugar
1 egg (well beaten)
2 tablespoons melted shortening
2 tablespoons sour milk
1 cup thinly sliced bananas (2 bananas)

Sift together the flour, salt, soda, baking powder and sugar. Combine the egg, shortening, milk and sliced bananas. Stir until banana is broken into small pieces. Combine liquid and dry ingredients, stirring only enough to dampen all the flour. Makes 8 muffins. Bake 25 to 30 minutes at 400°.

Makes Feathery Souffle Dish

CHOCOLATE SOUFFLE—Two tablespoons butter, 2 squares unsweetened chocolate (2 oz.), 2 tablespoons flour, 2 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅓ cup sugar, 2 cups milk, ½ teaspoon vanilla extract, ⅓ cup nut meats, 4 eggs, separated. In the top of a one-quart glass double-boiler, melt the butter and chocolate, blending well. Mix flour, tapioca, salt and sugar. Stir into chocolate to make a thick paste. Add milk very gradually, stirring constantly, then cook in double-boiler until thick and no starchy taste remains (about 20 minutes). Cool until lukewarm. Add vanilla and chopped nuts. Beat egg whites stiff, the yolks until thick and lemon color. First fold the yolks, then the whites into the chocolate mixture. Pour into an ungreased, shallow heat-resistant glass casserole, two-quart size, and bake in a slow oven, 315° F., for one hour and 15 minutes. Serve with mint jelly or mint syrup. Bring to the table in the glass casserole, which not only keeps the food hot but helps to keep the souffle from falling.

If your carpet sweeper squeaks, apply oil on a feather or from a small oil can. Use the oil on the bearings and around the wheels. Then run the sweeper over a paper to catch any surplus oil so it won't drip on your rugs.

Spoon Test

Here is a good jelly test: Dip a tablespoon into the boiling jelly, hold it up and let the jelly drip from the side of the spoon. When two drops will hang next each other, the jelly is done. Take the pan of jelly off the fire while testing it.

Tall-Vase Storage

If you have difficulty finding a place to store tall pitchers, vases and candlesticks, build a cupboard or set of shelves above the refrigerator. The cupboard can be open or closed and the shelves spaced far apart.

Place For All

To encourage neatness and family co-operation, assign a shelf or drawer to each member of the family to hold all school equipment, favorite magazines, music and other personal effects.

Kitchen Hints

Cheese puffs make a hit with soups of any kind Mix one-half a cup of pimiento cheese, one egg, a speck of salt and a little minced onion, parsley and a few grains of celery salt. Spread on buttered toast fingers or crackers and bake until well puffed and a delicious brown color.

Something new in the canape line is a cheese tart. Spread baked pastry dough generously with one cup of grated cheese melted with three tablespoons of milk. Season with salt, paprika, minced onions and parsley. Broil until browned and sprinkle with paprika. Serve in inch strips.

Egg custard is often served as a topping for soups. Mix two egg yolks, two tablespoons of milk and a few grains of salt and paprika. Pour a one-fourth inch layer into a shallow pan. Bake in a pan of hot water in a slow oven until the custard sets. Cool and cut out tiny shapes with vegetable cutter. Serve two to a cup or bowl of soup.

Crisp Foundation

To help keep the lower crust of a pie from getting soggy when baked, sprinkle it with a little flour, or brush over with slightly beaten egg whites before adding the filling. Or bake the lower crust five minutes before adding filling and top crust.

Rick-Rack Gaiety

Rick-rack braid makes a gay finish for bedroom, kitchen, bathroom or play room curtains. It's equally effective on plain, figured or colored materials—such as unbleached muslin, chintz, dimity or lawn.

COOKIE TOPPING

Mix one cup of grated maple sugar, one teaspoon of cinnamon, two tablespoons of butter and one tablespoon of hot cream. Use the combination to top cookies, drop or layer cakes. For an extra touch, sprinkle chopped nust over the frosting.

Four minutes boils an egg thoroughly if you like the white set and yolks heated in the center; five minutes makes the white firm and sets the yolks; 10 minutes boils eggs hard.

Bullet Warning Adds to Mystery In Beauty's Murder

POLICE PROBE LOVE AFFAIRS OF HOUSEWIFE

Husband Finds Pajama-Clad Body of Young Wife in Chicago Apartment.

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO—Using another bullet, the killer of beauteous Mrs. Mary Devuono was suspected today of having issued a grim warning to her family against involving him in the mysterious case.

With a shot fired into the home of the victim's sister, Mrs. William H. Foerstner, police became convinced that the solution lays somewhere in the tangled love affairs of the 28-year-old housewife.

They are certain the killer is known to her friends and relatives who might possibly implicate him. The bullet from a gun of the same small caliber used to kill Mrs. Devuono shattered a window in the darkened apartment while the Foerstners were out last evening.

Found by Husband.

Mrs. Devuono was slain Saturday afternoon in the apartment she shared with her husband, Rosario. He found the body, clad in flesh colored lounging pajamas, when he returned for dinner from his haberdashery.

The couple had celebrated their 10th wedding anniversary only two days before after a hectic marital life in which they had separated several times and Mrs. Devuono was said to have contracted a bigamous marriage.

Two of her admirers are already in custody while a third is sought. The husband told of routing a blond man who threatened when denied admittance to the apartment.

Reconstructing the crime police decided the killer was well known to the woman. Interrupted as she was preparing for a bath, Mrs. Devuono apparently admitted the assassin and sat beside him on the divan.

He started to put his arm around her, they believed, but instead of embracing her had fired a bullet into the back of her head, muffling the sound of the shot with a pillow. A second bullet pierced her heart.

STRICKEN AT 69

Mrs. Anna Wharton Had Lived Here 48 Years.

Mrs. Anna Rutan Wharton, 69, wife of Oliver A. Wharton, died at her home, 144 Hedges street, yesterday after a long illness.

Mrs. Wharton was born at Sulphur Springs, Crawford county, Nov. 9, 1869, the daughter of Peter and Elizabeth Rutan. She came to Mansfield in 1890 after her marriage.

She was a member of St. Matthew's Lutheran church, and was a charter member of the Needlecraft club of this city. Two children preceded her in death.

Besides her husband, she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Estella Haman of Shelby, a foster-son, Roy Edward Palm, Mansfield, and two grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p. m. Tuesday at the Finefrock Funeral Home, with Rev. Paul H. Saleste officiating. Burial will be in Mt. Union cemetery, near Sulphur Springs.

EDGAR WHATMAN DIES IN SHILOH

FACES CHARGE

Transient Accused of Stealing Merchandise From Store.

An accused shoplifter, Robert Hall, transient, will be arraigned in municipal court tomorrow on a charge of petit larceny filed today by W. L. Faulkner, manager of Kobacker's store.

Hall was arrested Saturday in a downtown hotel by police who had been called by store employes. Store clerks said they had recovered 10 scarfs valued at $7.50 which they claimed the man had taken from a counter.

CRACKSMEN GET $1,500

CLEVELAND — (U.P.) — Safe crackers early today took $1,500 from the strong box at the Trianon ball room where Benny Goodman's swing band played an engagement Sunday night.

Up and Down THE STREET

If no one else in the city has heard from Mayor Claude M. Hunter who is on a Florida vacation, at least two small boys are cherishing cards from him. Before the mayor left someone told him that Billy Ingram, 10, of 300 Glessner avenue, and Harold Amsbaugh, 9, also on Glessner, were collecting cancelled postage stamps. Saturday they received cards from the mayor with the Tampa cancellation. Billy has stamps from as far as Scotland, and Harold prizes one from Paris.

It was nothing unusual in the Good Old Days to start out in an auto and come back by way of horse and buggy, but one Mansfield party reflected the modern trend by making a long trip by auto and coming back by train. Mr. and Mrs. George J. Kochenderfer and Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Weaver, who left here two weeks ago for Minneapolis to meet their new granddaughter, returned today nursing sundry bruises—and with the license plates of the Kochenderfer car which was wrecked just before they reached their destination. The license plates were about all that could be salvaged from the wreckage of the machine which rolled over twice and took a long skid after a blowout.

Few Mansfielders remembered on Saturday that it was the 38th anniversary of the death of its greatest son, John Sherman. William Duff, Ohio historian, recalled it in his column in the Ashland Times-Gazette Saturday. He also pointed out that when the statesman, who was secretary of state and secretary of the treasury and candidate for president, died newspapers throughout the world commented on his career, his place in history and his contributions to the development of his country. Sherman died Oct. 22, 1900 in Washington and the body was returned to Mansfield for the greatest funeral in the history of the city, and which was attended by President McKinley and members of the cabinet.

When a student flier is to make his first solo flight he isn't told about it until he is ready to step into the plane, and so yesterday when Dr. M. S. Reed, one of Mansfield's "flying M. D.'s" went to the airport he was pleased to be told that next Sunday he could make his solo flight; pleased that the aviation tradition was being broken to give him time to get set for his first flight. As he stepped up to the plane he turned to thank "Bud" Harrington for giving him notice. His instructor grinned. "Get in there and get going—you're making your solo NOW!" Which didn't give the pilot time to get nervous and as a result he made a perfect take-off and landing before about 50 spectators.

F. M. PATTERSON TAKEN BY DEATH

Succumbs At Home Near Butler, Sunday; Rites Wednesday.

Frank M. Patterson, 55, died at his home two and a half miles east of Butler Sunday evening after a brief illness. He was born in Ganges, Nov. 3, 1882.

Surviving are his wife, three sons, Marion of Bellville, Fred of Mansfield and Harry of Columbus; a half brother, Wallace Patterson of Mansfield; four sisters, Mrs. George Flanders and Mrs. Robert Mawhiney of Pittsburgh, Mrs. Charles Homerick and Mrs. Edward DeVaul of Mansfield, and five grandchildren.

The body was removed to the Wappner funeral home where services will be held at 2 p. m. Wednesday with Rev. Charles F. Sheriff of St. Matthews Lutheran church officiating. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

RITES TUESDAY

Mrs. Clark, Fredericktown Widow, Dies In Indiana.

FREDERICKTOWN — Funeral services for Mrs. Nell Clark, 60, widow of the late Charles Clark, will be held at 2 p. m. Tuesday at the Meridith funeral home. Mrs. Clark died yesterday at the home of her cousin, Carl Zolman, Fairmont, Ind., where she had been visiting.

The body will be returned here tonight. Rev. Hilton W. Petry will officiate at the services and burial will be made in Forest cemetery.

Mrs. Clark is survived by a brother, Dory Baker and a sister, Mrs. Birdie Stillwell, both of Fredericktown.

DALADIER WINS TEST IN FRANCE

French Senatorial Electors Deliver 'Death Blow' to 'Popular Front.'

(By International News Service)

PARIS—In what even the Leftist newspaper L'Ceuvre was forced to admit was a "slight shift toward the center," senatorial electors of France today hammered home a death blow to the "popular front" government.

Major victor in the poll for nearly one-third of the senate seats was the Conservative Republican-Democratic Union of Louis Marin, which garnered 27 seats for a gain of nine.

On the whole, the poll was a personal triumph for Premier Edouard Daladier, and for his stern financial and economic policies and for his stand at Munich.

His party, the Radical Socialists, suffered the greatest senate losses of all, dropping six places to retain 41. Yet even this was a significent trend towards the right, for, as party headquarters announced, the senators who lost out were left extremists within the party. The Radical Socialists remain the largest party in the senate.

Likewise, while the Socialists advanced by one seat, bringing the senate total to 15, they entered so many candidates and made such a vigorous campaign that their showing was regarded as poor.

Daladier will now be in a position to go before the Radical Socialist congress in Marseilles next week with plans to drop the Socialists and Communists and gain his governmental majority henceforth from the center and right.

COLLECTORS INVADE HOME OF VANS FOR FURNITURE AUCTION

(By International News Service)

CLEVELAND—Antique collectors and curious today wandered through the huge barn in the roling country east of here and examined furniture and art objects worth several hundred thousand dollars—all of which will go under the auctioneer's hammer this week.

Tomorrow the furnishings of Daisy Hill farm, home of the late Van Sweringen Brothers, O. P. and M. J., will go on sale. The auction will last through Friday, and has attracted buyers from galleries, furniture and art experts, and just plain bargain hunters.

The Daisy Hill farm main building actually was a barn once, but the only resemblance now is found in its tremendous size—54 rooms—and the circular staircases that stand where silos once did.

The furnishings and art collection, gathered by the two country boys who rose to national fame and immense paper wealth through their railroad and real estate dealings, probably cost more than $1,000,000. They probably will bring approximately $100,000 under the auctioneer's hammer.

So many objects are to be sold that a 220-page catalogue describing 1,251 articles, has been compiled. Included are hooked rugs, Staffordshire ware, decorative brass and pewter ware, American and European lithographs and paintings, Sheffield plate and Georgian silver, books, all the fine antique furniture it takes to furnish 54 rooms, and innumerable other items.

NEW TERRITORY OFFERS FAIL TO MEET DEMANDS

'Further Negotiations' to Avoid Immediate Armed Action, Note Says.

(By United Press)

BUDAPEST, Hungary — Hungary today formally rejected Czechoslovakia's latest proposal for settling their territorial dispute.

The Hungarian answer to the Czech offer to cede sections of Hungarian-populated areas in the dwindling republic was dispatched to Frantisek Chvalkovsky, Czechoslovak foreign minister.

The Hungarian council of ministers, headed by Premier Bela Imredy, had decided that Czechoslovakia's answer to a formal demand for territory was "not acceptable in its present form."

There was one hope, however, that the dispute would be settled without resort to armed action, although half a million Hungarian troops were reported massed at the frontier ready to march into Slovakia. It was in the communique which the cabinet issued after its extraordinary Sunday meeting.

Continue Negotiations.

The communique said negotiations with Czechoslovakia over the disputed territory would be continued "through regular diplomatic channels."

This was contrary to opinions expressed Saturday by usually well informed politicians who said the Hungarian army might march at any time unless Czechoslovakia satisfied Hungary.

Word from Bratislava, in the heart of the Slovak territory, demanded by Hungary, said diplomats of the two nations might again exchange proposals, possibly today. Dr. Ferdinand Durcansky, vice premier and minister of justice in the new autonomous Slovak government, told the United Press there that only one real point still was at issue—cession of Bratislava, Kosice and Neutra to Hungary.

He added that Czechoslovakia felt it had a much greater claim to the three towns than Hungary.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Correspondent Gives Favorite Animadversions In Response to Question

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—Someone—forgot the name—recently wrote a vox pop about these pieces asking, "What is he for?" meaning me, and, "What are his ideals?" meaning mine.

This critic must be a regular reader. There are some. And in that case he must have noticed a rather persistent note of opposition to certain things. That is one way of advocacy, one manner of expressing ideals.

Some hygienists emphasize the peril of disease, others the joys of health. It is a matter of approach, but I just don't believe it would be as effective to sing the glories of democracy or the beauty of purity and ethics in politics as to do the same thing the other way, attacking, if you will, the perils of freedom and open or hypocritical violations of plain decency in public life.

This country is so accustomed to freedom up to now that no impression could be made by describing it over and over. A man living on the edge of the Grand Canyon gets used to the grandeur and majesty that tourists speak of, and may even permit his imagination to wonder what it would be like to live in Scranton just for a change.

* * *

Some Americans have been toying with a sneaking idea that what we need here is a Stalin or a Hitler—not in full furocity, perhaps, but a Stalin or a Hitler with the brakes on, someone who would shoot down or lock up those other Americans whom they happen to dislike, but who wouldn't interfere with their liberty. I think it is more forceful to point out that, even if a man is willing to curtail or abolish his neighbor's liberty, he can never be confident that his own Stalin or his Hitler won't turn on him.

Look at the trials and executions in Russia of Communists who were true believers in the book, but didn't follow Stalin in his deviations, and died against a wall.

I don't know whether this people can be terrified away from dictatorship of one label or another, both being alike, or not.

Parents, teachers, physical instructors and doctors try to terrify adolescents into chastity by describing the horrors of veneral disease. Clergymen usually take the other track, emphasizing the satisfaction of purity. But in spite of either method, and sometimes in spite of both, some of the young pick up a nail.

* * *

As the wartime hygiene booklets warned the men, so also this country would never get over the infection of Communism or Nazi-Fascism, as Mark Sullivan calls the axis disease, within the life of any American yet born, or enjoy an hour's relief from torment.

I am for tolerance, and I think the best boost for tolerance is to emphasize the savagery of intolerance, which was one of the forces that drove out of the old countries and over to this one the parents and grandparents of the very people who now think tolerance shouldn't include those whom they dislike.

* * *

Tolerance only for those whom you like is no tolerance at all, and I feel a glow of tolerance when I let it run for people who are offensive to me. I suppose I am tolerant of intolerance, but let us not get into smart and nifty paradoxes.

I think the best way of opposing corruption in office — and I mean nepotism, too—and the exploitation of high and honored office for the personal gain of relatives—is to nail it, specifically, not just prate of honesty and high-principled restraint. And so on, all down the line, it is a method.

If I have been on my stuff it will be possible to tell what I am for and what my ideals are—if I may use a word so far above my humble station—by reading what I am against. You can't keep a clean face just by loving cleanliness. You have to use soap.

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Peace, it's wonderful.

Hollywood is breathing again. It's going to keep on making pictures. Even big pictures.

If things had turned out differently at Munich, they'd have turned out sourly in Hollywood. Other industries—steel, foodstuffs, materials—might have enjoyed a temporary boom in the hole-all over Hollywood during the war jitters.

* * *

During that scare many a "big caust, but the movies would have taken a tailspin.

They'd have had to stick to their knitting only in a minorly colossal way. They'd have had to make little pictures for sale to domestic audiences only. They couldn't have expected foreigners to leave their bombproof shelters to ogle a screen.

There would have been no helping the "colossals" already made. "Marie Antoinette" wouldn't have had her expected boost from Europe. ("But we'll get it all back from Europe," was the stock Metro answer to "Marie's" big budget.)

"Gunga Din," calculated to cash in heavily through the British Empire, would have gone out with two strikes against it.

"If I Were King," made for international appeal, would have taken a cut of at least one-third in anticipated revenues.

"Men With Wings," high-budgeted, would have turned pale, under its technicolor, just like producers one" was taken off the ready-to-shoot list and put back on the shelf.

Frank Lloyd had planned "Ruler of the Seas," a story of a big shipping family, but he substituted "Big Steel" as his next.

"The Light That Failed" has been on and off the schedule for several years. During the war talk it was off again—cost too much for the American market to bear alone. Peace—it's on again.

"Beau Geste," "The Irish Sweepstakes," "Knights of the Round-table"—British appeal subjects that couldn't have been undertaken but for Munich. They're all definitely on now.

"Hotel Imperial," so-called jinx picture because of its history, is on again with Isa Miranda, the Italian star who didn't make "Zaza." Marlene Dietrich started for "Hotel Imperial," walked out of the lobby. Margaret Sullavan was to take over, broke her arm. Isa was next—but if Italy had gone with Hitler on a bombing party, Isa would have been out.

* * *

Garbo and Dietrich, whose pictures generally rely on the foreign markets to show their best returns, might have been missing stars in a war season, or at least have been seen in less costly vehicles. Garbo probably wouldn't have had her "Madame Curie" but she'll have it now. Peace, it's wonderful.

Hollywood has been idling along all summer, waiting for this and waiting for that; the government's trust-busting suit and internal dissensions in the industry have put a crimp into the usually ambitious schedules. Now, it's a matter of getting pictures out to meet release dates and give the theaters something to show. With peace, the showings will be much, much better.

ART LEWIS

Cleveland Rams Win Third Straight Game Under New Coach's Wing.

By GEORGE KIRKSEY

NEW YORK—(UP)—The man of the hour in professional football today was Art Lewis, who was shoved into one of the toughest spots in the National league a month ago as coach of the disorganized Cleveland Rams.

Cleveland had lost its first three games, when Lewis, assistant coach and tackle, replaced the venerable Hugo Bezdek. With a lot of hard work Lewis whipped Cleveland into a team which today had a fighting chance to win the league's western division championship.

The Rams crowned their comeback Sunday with a sensational 23-21 victory over the league-leading Chicago Bears at Wrigley field.

Lewis, who broke into the pro game only two years ago with the New York Giants quit his job as line coach at Ohio Wesleyan this fall to become assistant coach and tackle for Cleveland

The Rams have nicked the Bears twice (14-7 in the other game) and Detroit, 21-17, in scoring three straight victories since Lewis took over They now have a .500 per cent record and are pointing for next Sundays game against the leading Green Bay Packers with title aspirations.

Green Bay moved into western division lead by defeating Pittsburgh, 29-0 The Detroit Lions held third place by winning a hard-fought, 10-0 victory over the Chicago Cardinals.

The champion Washington Redskins maintained their lead in the eastern division by outscoring the Philadelphia Eagles, 20-14. Playing their best game of the season the New York Giants remained on the heels of the Redskins by scoring a 28-14 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers

Coals Bow to Canton

Suffer Fifth Straight Loss by Touchdown Margin to Unbeaten Eleven.

By CHUCK MARTIN.

A SECOND period touchdown pass enabled the undefeated R. & F. Furniture eleven of Canton to hand the Kallmerten and Baer semi-pro combine its fifth straight setback of the season by a 6 to 0 count at League park Sunday before a small crowd.

The winning touchdown play came near the end of the opening half when Fullback Boucetti heaved an aerial from the Mansfield 23 to Chuch DiMinno, who snagged the ball on the five and raced over Fifth for Canton.

It was Canton's fifth triumph of the season, and the Furnitures, by halting the heavier Mansfield club's running attack, kept its unmarred record clean.

Mansfield, in its own territory the first half because of Ed Bisella's zooming punts, finally started to click after the intermission, but only once did it drive deep into Canton's territory

The Coals' lone threat came late in the third chapter after a hurried Canton punt bounded out of bounds on the visitors' 31 yard stripe.

With Bill Hall, former Illinois university freshman star, carrying the brunt of the running attack, the K-B's marched to Canton's 12 before relinquishing the ball on downs

Canton's light and speedy outfit pounded away at Mansfield's rugged line all afternoon without results. The invaders tallied only three first downs, two on passes and the other with the aid of a penalty.

The Mansfielders encountered trouble from the Canton hard-charging line which repeatedly broke through to smash the Coals' interference

A poor Mansfield punt set the stage for the winning marker. A Canton quick kick placed the ball on the K-B's two, and Hall's punt from behind the goal line was returned to the Mansfield 31 Running plays carried the ball to the 23 and Boucetti rifled the pass on fourth down Rotar's placement for the point was blocked.

Outside of the third period threat, the Coals never penetrated inside the Canton 30

Passed On Heels.

Canton, possessing a brilliant passer in Boucetti, had the Coals on their heels most of the first half Shortly before the Furnitures tallied, they passed to the Mansfield eight before losing the ball on downs. It was the only times they moved inside the Coal's 30.

Coach Gip Miller rushed Earl Powers into the game in the last half to open a passing attack, but he never had a chance to pick his potential receivers because of Canton's driving linemen.

The K-B's registered eight first downs, but lost 65 yards on penalties. Zediker, Bucher, LaRue and Schwaner were outstanding in the Coals' forward wall

Gopher Title Reign May End This Week

Wildcats Confident They Can Stop Minnesota; Langhurst Leads Big Ten Scorers.

CHICAGO—(AP)—Northwestern, the team that kept Minnesota from a four-year Big Ten football monopoly by snaring the 1936 championship, will attempt to break up another Golden Gopher title reign Saturday.

Where Purdue failed by a touchdown and Michigan by a single point, the Wildcats, full of veteran power and sophomore talent, are confident they can stop Bernie Bierman's powerhouse.

Holds Foe Scoreless.

Not a point has been scored against the Purple this season in four games. Last week it resorted to no more than ordinary offensive maneuvers to flatten Illinois, 13 to 0.

Meanwhile, the Gophers were resting for their big test. They benefitted further by the idle week-end since it gave Harold Van Every, their star passer, and Wilburn Moore, fleet halfback, an extra week to recover from recent injuries.

The game is one of four conference engagements Saturday. Two will bring together Purdue at Iowa and Illinois at Michigan and unscramble a five-way tie for fourth place. Wisconsin takes on Indiana in the other Big Ten game

Mike Byelene of Massillon, O., a sophomore and one of Purdue's three star "B" ball carriers, led the Boilermakers to a 13 to 7 victory over Wisconsin. Byelene hurled one touchdown pass to Jack Krause and ran 73 yards for the winning score.

The Boilermakers will be the favorites over the Hawkeyes who lost last week to Colgate's Red Raiders 14 to 0. Michigan, which had to resort to forward passes to escape a Yale aerial barrange that threatened defeat with each pitch, is likewise favored over Illinois.

Indiana, beaten 13 to 6 by Kansas State, will be still after its first triumph of the year when it encounters Wisconsin—and the odds are against it.

Notre Dame will continue its national title quest against Army after a scare in a bruising battle against Carnegie Tech that wound up 7 to 0 in favor of the Irish.

Ohioan in Front.

Jim Langhurst, Ohio State's husky sophomore fullback, played through two games without scoring, then tore off three touchdown sprints against Chicago Saturday to take over leadership in the Big Ten's individual scoring race.

Langhurst had 18 points, two more than Iowa's Jerry Niles, another sophomore fullback.

Although the management of the Adams Bantamweight team announced a game with the Skippies, the Cleveland Plain Dealer reported today that the Skippies defeated the Harris Paints of Wooster, 7 to 6, Sunday Whether the Mansfield team played could not be learned.

Donnon, Bates Reach Finals

Qualify for State Harrier Meet at Toledo.

Mansfield high qualified Bob Donnan and Earl Bates for the state cross country finals in the district meet held in Toledo Saturday. Toledo Libbey won the district crown

Donnan and Bates finished sixth and seventh, respectively, in the strong field Ed Williams and Bob Yarman of Mansfield finished out of the qualifying places.

Mansfield did not figure in the team championship race as it lacked one man to make a five-man team as required by rules. However, unofficially Mansfield finished well up among the leaders with four men.

Tough One For Kent

Rosie Starn's Unbeaten Club Tackles Carroll in Top Game This Week.

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Two dozen games, 13 with foreign foes, two in the Buckeye and eight in the Ohio conference, make up this week-end's Ohio college grid menu, with the spotlight trained on the Kent State-John Carroll contest at Cleveland Friday night.

In the headliner Kent and Carroll toss on the block their unbeaten—untied records, and their hopes of the Ohio conference and state championships. The two top-notchers, with Western Reserve, made up the "clean record" contingent after Saturday's upsets knocked Marshall, Dayton, Case and Ohio Northern out of the select class.

Ohio Holds Edge.

In 53 battles with out-of-state opponents this year, Ohio squads have won 26, lost 23 and tied four. Six of this week's intersectional games are on local grids and seven on foreign fields.

Ohio State tops the travelers, going to Gotham to vie with the Violets of New York university. Heavy interest also hinges on Dayton's invasion of Huntington, W. Va., for a decisive Buckeye conference fray with Marshall. The flyers and the thundering herd unbeaten and untied up to Saturday, were victims of startling upsets. Miami bowled over Dayton 14 to 0, while Toledo defeated the heard 13 to 7.

Miami meets Ohio Wesleyan, which has failed to count a point in five starts, in another Buckeye league game

Other outstanding games punctuate the Saturday program, among them Cincinnati at Ohio university, Boston university at Western Reserve, Carnegie Tech at Akron, Providence at Xavier, Youngstown at West Virginia, and Toledo at Wayne

Mounts at Ashland.

The other games are Friday night, Mount Union at Ashland Capital at Marietta and Rio Grande at Bluffton

Saturday: Otterbein at Kenyon, Ohio Northern at Heidelberg, Baldwin Wallace at Case, Oberlin at Wittenberg Muskingum at Wooster, Findlay at West Liberty State, Alfred Holbrook at Georgetown, Juniata at Hiram, Detroit Tech at Denison, Michigan Normal at Bowling Green, Wilberforce at Tennessee State.

Buckeye Prep For New York

Langhurst Stars in Game With Chicago.

COLUMBUS—(INS)—The thunderous acclaim that arose after Ohio State trounced Chicago, 42-to-7 was silenced today by the knowledge that the road ahead was far from free of obstacles.

The Bucks go to New York this Saturday and should win against New York University which has lost two games. After that on successive Saturday's though, come Purdue, Illinois and Michigan.

It is conceivable to imagine that Ohio can loose all three. As well, they can sweep the field but Purdue and Michigan have ball clubs that speak for themselves and Ohio must improve considerably in order to give those two clubs a battle

Against Chicago the Buckeyes turned on the famed razzle-dazzle for the first time this year and it looked glittering indeed. But Chicago was a weak team and as it was the Maroons outgained Ohio 401 to 381 on the net number of yards gained.

Jimmy Langhurst, sophomore fullback from Willard O., stole the show with his broken field running He scored three touchdowns and his play was gratifying to Coach Francis Schmidt Jimmy Strausbaugh and Don Scott, two other sophomore backfield men, showed evidence of future greatness.

However, despite the victory, even Chicago's players commented on the Buckeyes' lack of blocking ability and half-hearted efforts to play real, brusing football.

Nominates Referee as Captain of All-America

By HENRY McLEMORE

NEW YORK—(UP)—Without any more ado, and without waiting for the season to close, I hereby nominate Mr John Getchell as the captain of the 1938 All-America football team.

His work at South Bend last Saturday, when he single-handedly directed a fine and fighting Carnegie Tech eleven, 7 to 0, stands as one of the greatest one-man feats of all time On the off chance that some of you might have missed reading of Mr. Getchell's performance, I will tell you what happened

In the fourth period of the game between Carnegie Tech and Notre Dame with the score 0-0 and Carnegie Tech in possession of the ball at midfield the Tech quarterback asked Mr. Getchell, referee of the game what down it was. Mr. Getchell told him it was third down and one yard to go The quarterback rightly called for a line plunge, and when that failed to gain the needed yard the Tech team went into punt formation. But Mr Getchell rushed in and gave the ball to Notre Dame, explaining that he had forgotten about a down and that Tech already had had four downs

Given the ball at this point the Irish, who had been unable to do anything against the Carnegie line before this weird decision and gift, smashed through a demoralized and bewildered foe for a touch down.

I saw Tom Thorp, one of the oldest, wisest and most respected football officials in the country at the professional game at the Polo grounds yesterday, and asked him what he thought of Mr. Getchell's decision

"It doesn't make sense, anyway you look at it," Thorp said. "When Getchell realized his error he should have done one of two things—stuck by his statement to the Tech quarterback and given them another down or called the play off and given Tech a chance to kick. He had no right to penalize a team for a mistake of his own."

A coach I spoke to concerning the incident (I won't mention his name because of obvious reasons) said he was greatly surprised that Bill Kern, Tech coach, had not taken his team off the field rather than yield to such a decision

Certainly there can't be much rejoicing in South Bend over a victory achieved in such a manner.

Whippets Register First Victory Over Mansfield High Since 1933 Before 7,000 Witnesses.

By OSCAR RUHL, News-Journal Sports Editor.

RELIEF appeared in sight for the well-worn Tygers today as they attempted to soothe their battered hides with thoughts of a more promising Saturday.

Beaten in their last two appearances by two of the major rivals on the schedule, Mansfield high school's gridmen were encouraged by the victory possibilities for their next engagement as they returned to the practice lot today.

Akron Kenmore's Cardinals invade the city Saturday to engage the Tygers in the final home game of the season at Stadium field, and Coach Russ Murphy's proteges saw in this tilt a chance to salvage something from a season that appears destined to be the most disastrous experienced by a Mansfield club in more than a decade.

Hard work was on tap for the Tigers this week as Murphy seeks to eliminate the memory of the worst defeat handed a Mansfield edition by Shelby in 14 years.

The Tygers suffered their second straight defeat and third of the season to a capable Shelby outfit by a 26 to 13 margin before 7,000 spectators who packed Skiles field to the gates Saturday.

Subjected to much ridicule for their failure to offer Sandusky a battle a week ago, the Tygers found few messages of condolence in their mail today.

While a comparison of figures tend to give Mansfield the edge, Shelby manufactured the touchdowns, and, after all, the payoff is made on touchdowns.

* * *

Tygers Hold Own Until Shelby Rally.

SATURDAY'S setto was no repitition of the Sandusky game. The Tygers were in the ball game all the way until the late minutes when the Whippets put on a rally that literally wiped them off the gridiron.

Leading 7 to 6 at the intermission and trailing 13 to 7 at the end of the third quarter, Coach Bill Query's forces staged a fourth-period rally to annex the first Shelby victory over Mansfield since 1933.

NAGLE

This game had much in common with the encounter four years ago, too It was won in virtually the same manner, but the margin was greater Saturday.

A trick play handed down to Query by his predecessor, Ed Winsper now at Wooster, gave Shelby the victory. The extra touchdowns merely added insult to injury, and they may never have been scored had Shelby not upset the Tygers with the desperate play that it pulls out of the bag at least once in every Mansfield game.

You probably recall how the Whippets caught the Tygers unprepared on a time-out to score a touchdown to win a 13 to 12 victory in 1933.

Saturday Shelby executed the same play with only a slight variation in the third period while trailing 13 to 7. Instead of calling time to set up the unorthodox play, the Whippets huddled to the right of the Mansfield line on the Murphymen's 48

A trick of some kind appeared inevitable, but the Tygers refused to shift, and they looked bewildered as the center snapped the ball into the midst of the huddle.

Fleet Harold Bliss grabbed the pigskin and the surprised Tygers never laid a hand on him as he galloped down the sideline completely surrounded by interferers

Jim Terman converted the extra point on a kick over the still-dazed Tygers' heads and Shelby never trailed again

* * *

Penalty Nullifies Big Tyger Gain.

MANSFIELD never threatened thereafter. Howard Hershey got loose on a 27-yard run to Shelby's 30 a few minutes later, but a holding penalty nullified the gain, and the Tygers merely watched the Whippets go by from then on.

It is true that Mansfield suffered a number of tough breaks, but the Whippets outfought the Tygers completely, and it was their inspirational play that was a major factor in their conquest of one of the weakest Tygers teams assembled in recent years.

The only consolation Mansfield can derive from the game is the fact that it marred Shelby's perfect defensive record, but this is hardly enough to lessen the sting of the whipping.

Outweighed by many, many pounds, the Whippets never gave up as they registered their sixth straight victory. They threw caution to the wind like hardened gamblers. They gambled with the trick play and won. Leading in the fourth period by one point, they gambled with flat passes instead of attempting to protect their lead with a more conservative brand of ball, and won again.

It is rather hard to beat an aggressive, gambling team, the Tygers found out to their sorrow.

A strong wind that blew down the field figured very prominently in the game.

The opening kickoff pushed Mansfield deep into its own territory as in the Sandusky game, and history repeated itself when Al Schwaner, attempting to kick the Tygers out of danger, got off a bad boot against the wind that curved out of bounds on Mansfield's 31.

Shelby got only as far as the 22 on this thrust as Harold Gallagher recovered Bob Baker's fumble, but the Tygers returned the courtesy Gal 2 TYGERS FLAT . . DAVIS a couple of plays later, and this time the Whippets took advantage of the break.

Wind Whips Ball Over Smith's Head.

ON THE second play after the recovery of the Shelby bobble, Gallagher's pass from center was whipped over Ike Smith's head by the fast breeze and Bob Payne regained the ball for Shelby on the four.

Bliss scored the touchdown on the first play on a wide play to his right. Terman kicked the point and Shelby held a 7 to 0 lead with the game less than six minutes old.

A bad pass by Gallagher was fumbled a few minutes later by Smith on Mansfield's 26 and Bob Daugherty recovered for the hosts, but Mansfield held for downs.

Shelby came right back to threaten again in the first period after another bad kick went out on Mansfied's 35, but Smith intercepted a pass on the 10 to halt the march.

Query's men were shackled from then on until they pulled the bit of trickery that won the ball game.

Smith's 29-yard advance on the ancient Statue of Liberty play featured the 59-yard drive that resulted in Mansfield's first touchdown in the second period. The colored speedster lugged the pigskin to the six, and Capt. Rich Nagle went across on the third play from the three. Daugherty blocked Schwaner's attempted placement to protect Shelby's lead.

Mansfield scored again in the third period to gain its only lead. The touchdown march originated on the kickoff after Jack Phaler returned the kick to Mansfield's 25. With Nagle Hershey and Smith taking turns, the Tygers marched to the Shelby 18 without a halt.

A 15-yard penalty was inflicted against Shelby for slugging at this point, and the oval was moved down to the three. Nagle bounced across the stripe for the touchdown to raise Mansfield's hopes and Schwaner added the point when his low kick was touched just enough by a defending lineman to lift it over the cross bar to give the Tygers a 13 to 7 advantage

* * *

Offside Penalty Erases Ike's Return.

SCHWANER'S 57-yard punt across the end zone put Shelby in hot water for a brief period a few plays later. The Whippets kicked to their own 46. Smith made a beautiful return to the 20, but instead of having another scoring opportunity, Mansfield was handed a five-yard penalty for offside on the punt, and the ball was returned to Shelby.

Miller then punted dead to midfield, and Shelby scored a little while later on the trick after partially blocking Schwaner's punt.

After obtaining a 14 to 13 lead, the Whippets filled the air with passes. They scored from the 14 on Miller's throw to Bliss. The Tygers were easy victims the rest of the way.

Shelby again tallied just before the end of the game by running the Mansfield line to shreds. Baker bucked over from the five for the last touchdown, the only Shelby score the redoubtable Bliss failed to tally.

Although beaten by 13 points, the Tygers held the edge in first downs, 14 to 8, and compiled a total of 260 yards from rushing and passing to 206 for the Whippets.

STEELS, MOTORS FALTER UNDER PROFIT SELLING

Utilities, Aircrafts and Specials Resume Advance in Irregular Market.

BULLETIN

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—A spurt in steel operations to the highest level in more than a year stimulated new buying in the stock market today. United States Steel was at its best of the year at 66 up ⅜. New highs also were made by National Steel at 73¾ up 1 and Youngstown Sheet & Tube at 51½ up 1⅝.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Selected utilities, aircrafts and specialties resumed the advance in today's stock market, but the buoyant steels and motors of Saturday backed away under profit selling.

Small price gains predominated at the opening. A burst of offerings in pivotal stocks then put the ticker tape behind for a brief interval. Dealings quieted later and, near the second hour, quotations were no worse than moderately irregular.

Pointing upward fractions to a point or so were Consolidated, Edison, North American, Douglas Aircraft, Boeing, Glenn Martin, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Westinghouse, N. Y. Central, Johns-Manville, Canada Dry, Crane Co., Loft and Celotex.

Down as much were Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown, J. I. Case, Anaconda, Kennecott, Allied Chemical and Owens-Illinois. Bonds improved in spots and commodities were mildly mixed.

While business news continued to the liking of speculative forces, brokers said, many traders lightened commitments because of the lengthy upswing.

On the recovery side was the survey of the Magazine "Steel" which stressed the beneficial effect on steel markets of last week's settlement of the price cuting war in this industry.

"Direct effect on the withdrawal of sharp concessions on flat-rolled steel," the Review said, "has been a moderate pickup in demand for other products, buying of which had been retarded somewhat by expectations of consumers that price weakness might spread. In addition, further impairment of the earnings position of the steel industry has been checked, while labor is less apprehensive over the outlook for lower wages."

Although automobile markers were still the principal customers in the steel field, it was added, requirements of other users are being well sustained.

ASHBROOK IN SPOTLIGHT AT DISTRICT RALLY

Veteran Congressman Flays Heckler and Townsend Plan; Sawyer, Bulkley Speak.

ent has has done more to advertise Communism than anything I know," he added.

Sawyer said he had been accused by Bricker of associating with "a lot of trash."

"I have the backing of 99 per cent of the veteran vote in the state. Do you call that trash?" he asked.

He then told his audience he had the backing of the majority of labor, the farmers and the endorsement of former governors James M. Cox and Vic Donahey.

"Do you call that trash?" he asked again.

Sawyer asserted that during the primary he had adopted a platform that if elected he would "make Ohio the best governed state in the union" and that he hadn't "departed in the slightest particular" from that program.

Bulkley Lauds New Deal.

Bulkley in his address lauded the accomplishments of President Roosevelt and the New Deal, declaring that "I'm glad to be the president's personal friend and political adherent."

He launched his talk by stating that the "great issue in this campaign is whether we shall sustain the policies of the New Deal and Roosevelt."

The senator voiced strong approval of the government's spending program for aid to recovery, asserting that he would "support it fully and it will not stop after Nov. 8."

Discussing the "truth about federal finances," Bulkley cited figures to show that if proper reductions were made for "cash in the treasury, repayable advances to business and agriculture" and the discharge of government relief obligations, the gross public debt increase since March, 1933, could be reduced from 17 billions to nine billions.

"The present administration has done more for the people of the nation than any other in the history of the country," he said.

"True we have had a recession, but that has been apparently due to the cutting off of the spending program too sharply. But unquestionably we are on the way back for every index is pointing upward."

Turning from the national administration Bulkley attacked his Republican opponent, Robert A. Taft, for attempting to "buy the election."

He charged the practice as a "menace to free government," asserting that Taft had spent $110,000 to win the primary election.

Other candidates who were introduced were R. M. Weingardner, candidate for judge of the Supreme court; Ralph A. Lutz, candidate for re-election as county representative; C. L. Mitchell, candidate for re-election to the board of county commissioners; Miss Catherine Carter, head of the Democratic women of Ohio, and Atty. Marshall Moore, secretary of the Richland county Democratic executive committee, who spoke on behalf of the proposed half mill levy to provide care for tuberculosis patients.

The meeting was in charge of Atty. John C. O'Connell, Democratic executive committee chairman.

Contends Storm Sash Cuts Fuel Bills Nearly Third

A house fitted with storm sash and storm doors saves from 25 to 33 per cent in fuel bills, Harry A. Parker, Mansfield representative of the Gordon-Van Tine company, says.

"Storm sash really cost nothing because every cent spent comes back in fuel savings and added winter comfort," Parker contends.

He points out that no matter how well made and well fitted windows are, they are bound to let a large amount of heat escape on cold winter days.

Experiments have shown that cold air rushing against the outside of the glass chills the glass and lowers the temperature in the vicinity of the window from 10 to 15 degrees. Storm sash form a dead air space which serves as a blanket of insulation between the outside cold and warmth of the room.

Gordon-Van Tine storm sash are made of Ponderosa pine which is acclaimed as the best wood for this purpose. It is light, storm and weatherproof.

The thousands of storm sash available at Gordon-Van Tine mills are just one item that goes into the building and remodeling of homes. It is rated as the world's largest concern selling building material direct to the consumer.

Everything for building, repairing or remodeling—from a can of paint to a paint brush; from a screen door to complete millwork for a home; from 10 feet of oak flooring to 10 carloads of lumber are sold by this firm.

Mr. Parker, the Mansfield representative of Gordon-Van Tine, is located in the Walpark building.

State and local tax collections in 1936 totalled $6,619,000,000. New York ranked first with a total of $1,196,000,000, representing $92.46 per-capita compared with a per-capita figure of $51.54 for the country as a whole.

Gas Consumption Heads For Record

Although the percentage gain may prove negligible when final figures are tallied, it is currently expected that gasoline consumption in 1938 will exceed that of last year, thus setting another all-time high.

Ahead at the half year, consumption fell below comparable 1937 levels in July because of poor weather. But August gallonage moved ahead as did the September total and October is estimated to move up 1 per cent over the 1937 month.

Need Financial Lift? Provident Firm Offers Help

One of the strongest organizations of its kind in this section of the state, the Mansfield Provident company, 18 West Third street, was founded for the purpose of making loans to worthy people who found themselves temporarily short of money.

The company makes personal loans on their clients' own security and arranges for monthly payments in accordance with their income.

A feature of the Mansfield Provident business is the safeguarding of the patrons' interest through the firm's advisory department which is available to everyone.

Operating on a sound and conservative policy the company strives to give prompt and efficient service for the purchase or payment of automobiles, diamonds, furniture, farm equipment or other chattels, Manager M. L. Anderson points out.

"While the personal finance service is a comparatively new form of money service, these institutions have lent millions of dollars to citizens throughout the nation without asking or receiving any aid from the federal government," Mr. Anderson said.

"We have made every effort to aid the person in distress."

Fear of Hospital Bills Banished By This Policy

Accident, sickness or disease sends someone to a hospital every minute. Many more should go there for the proper care, but do not because they fear the expense.

Recovery from sickness or an accident is often delayed days or weeks for the lack of experienced nurse or hospital care. The result is, that lost time and income, or the cost of disability, is annually increasing into hundreds of million dollars.

Fear of hospital bills and the cost of x-rays, nurse, operating room, laboratory fees, etc., can now be banished by all who will pay as little as $1 a month or less for a hospital and nurse credit policy.

This policy is a letter of credit to any hospital or sanitarium in the United States, Canada and Europe, or for the employment of a registered nurse.

All accidents and sickness, serious enough to require x-rays and confinement, will heal quicker with hospital and nurse care.

Many today suffer ailments which impair their happiness and full enjoyment of life because they did not receive proper care during a severe sickness or at the time of an injury.

Owning a "letter of credit"—policy to any hospital and registered nurse, there is no fear of expense, no stinting of care and no worry to retard recovery. The best care possible is hurrying restoration of health.

OFFERS 'PROOF' OF DAVEY DEAL

Sawyer Submits Affidavits While Bricker Condemns 'Stop-Gap' Relief.

dered "to advise all of the liquor inspectors working under him to go to bat for John Bricker for governor."

"This sworn statement continues that the district supervisor," said Sawyer, "advised this affiant that they had an agreement with John Bricker whereby they were to get 30 per cent of the patronage in the department of liquor control of the state of Ohio in the event that John Bricker were elected governor."

Interviewed by Mayor Harold H. Burton over Station WTAM, Cleveland, Bricker said he would propose to the legislature a long-range relief program based upon determination of relief needs and the extent to which political subdivisions can reasonably be expected to share in the cost of relief.

U. S. Senator Robert J. Bulkley advocated the continuation of the WPA and CCC "as long as the need exists" at a rally of the colored Democratic council in Cleveland.

Bulkley assailed the Republicans as being responsible for defeat of the proposed cloture rule on the anti-lynching bill at the last session of congress.

He took exception to the statement of the Republican opponent, Robert A. Taft, that the government should not have the responsibility of finding jobs for the unemployed and added, "the government recognizes its responsibility of finding jobs for persons out of work through no fault of their own."

Taft again flung the accusation at Bulkley that the latter's primary campaign expense report showed "flagrant violations of the federal corrupt practices act."

"It reveals," Taft said, "that he has accepted contributions from federal office holders in the state. This is not only unethical, it is a violation of the law. Senator Bulkley's only defense of the practice is that he has always done it before."

Attacking the whole spending program of the New Deal as "immoral" Taft declared:

"It promises what it cannot give. All of us would like to live in better houses, drive better cars and wear better clothes, but he cannot afford it. Neither can the government."

HUMPHREY SILENT

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Liquor enforcement Chief Al Humphrey declined to comment today on charges made by Charles Sawyer, Democratic gubernatorial nominee, in Wilmington, that orders have come from Humphrey's office to liquor inspectors to support John W. Bricker, Republican nominee for governor.

"I'm not a candidate; let him say it," was Humphrey's only reply to the Sawyer allegation.

WOMEN DINE, TALK POLITICS

Gossip 'Out' as 400 Crowd Into Leland Ballroom, Discuss Campaign Wars.

peated his charge that Bricker had entered into a 70-30 patronage deal with Davey.

There were those who were completely at their ease at the luncheon—they were women who were for Sawyer before the primary. There were those who, for a time, weren't at their ease. They were the ones who had been for Davey.

But before Sawyer completed his talk, they were at their ease, too. For he had apparently convinced them that he harbored no ill feeling toward those who had supported his opponent.

Sawyer was easily the star guest of the luncheon—although he was not the only candidate present. William A. Ashbrook, veteran candidate for congress, was there, as was Attorney General Herbert S. Duffy, seeking re-election, and James L. Metzenbaum, whose size belies his might, seeking election as lieutenant governor, Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt of the supreme court, and county candidates.

But Sawyer, gray-haired, clear-eyed, smiling and suave held the spotlight.

Sawyer in his talk recalled that he had been elected to city council in Cincinnati when he was very young and "when Cincinnati had the reputation of being the most politically corrupt city in the country. But I lived to see it become the best governed city in America, and I hope to live to see Ohio become the best governed state in America."

Then Sawyer turned to the deal he has charged to Bricker and Davey.

"Think of it," he said, "a Democratic administration threatening Democratic workers and voters for attending Democratic meetings. Threatening state employes if they so much as pass out Sawyer cards."

"The governor of the state of Ohio has a well laid plan to sell the Democratic party down the river," he told them, repeating what he had publicly charged in previous talks. "And what answer have Mr. Davey and Mr. Bricker made to that charge of their plan to elect Bricker and split the state patronage between them? Isn't it funny that Mr. Bricker has never asked me to submit proof of that statement? But whether he wants proof or not, he'll get it, for I will make public my proof next week."

The Mansfield luncheon meeting was the last one of a series of six which have been held over the state in the past few weeks and which have been attended by more han 5,000 women. Democratic women, according to Mrs. Harriet B. Stewart, Bucyrus, a central committeewoman who presided at the meeting, are better organized this year than ever before. Mrs. Stewart is a sister of Mrs. Augusta Dickerson, former Mansfield woman who is widely known here. Mrs. Marie Bell, Mansfield was the Richland county chairman for the meeting, working with Mrs. Stewart.

DRAFT LAWS TO BRING CURB ON LABOR VIOLENCE

Civil Liberties Committee Would Call for Greater Control of Firearms.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — The La Follette Civil Liberties committee is considering a manifold legislative attack against industrial violence in drafting a program to be presented next session of congress, it was learned today.

The La Follette recommendations, it was disclosed, probably will include alteration and strengthening of the Wagner Labor Relations act.

Sources close to Sen. Robert M. La Follette, jr., P., Wis., revealed that the legislative program is developing along these lines:

1. Increased control over all firearms, to require registration of all weapons and taxes on their sale. The Federal Firearms Registration act applies only to machine guns, sub-machines guns and sawed-off shotguns.

2. Rigid regulation of tear gas sales. The committee is studying possibility of limiting the amount of gas which may be possessed by an individual or corporation; of making corporations liable for injuries inflicted by gas used by their employes; prohibition of interstate shipment of manufacturing concerns; requirement that municipalities purchasing gas use only "legally collected tax funds."

3. Prevention of corporate "arrogation of the police power of states or municipalities.

Hit 'Espionage' System.

Committee lawyers also are studying the possibility of barring from participation in government contracts companies employing an "espionage system" and guard forces not employed as regular watchmen. They are investigating advisability of making such "arrogation" an "unfair practice" under the Wagner act. Study is being given to possibilty of barring from interstate commerce goods produced in factories which assume police functions normally performed by civil authorities.

The committee has a group of investigators in the field surveying a dozen labor situations with a view to possible future hearings.

The committee, it was learned, had virtually exhausted the $60,000 granted it at the last session of congress. Since it began functioning in 1936, the committee has spent $150,000 in a dozen hearings covering a large number of the major strikes in recent years. It has heard 700 witnesse, issued 1,900 subpenas, and heard 100 days of testimony.

It was expected that La Follette would ask more funds next January, as his committee—a subcommittee of the labor and education group—is a "continuing" agency of the senate. Senate conservatives, however, have indicated they will fight any further appropriations for La Follette's inquiries.

CHAPTER 27

JUDY DID not expect any Christmas gifts. Her father and mother definitely had made it clear that they were no longer interested in her. Only a few of her friends knew where she was.

Therefore, when a long envelope with her father's name on it came, she opened it in surprise. A check fell out. It was not for a few dollars. It was for an amount that astounded her. He must be making a comeback. Probably he was sorry for his harshness. Well, she would mail the crisp green piece of paper back to him. She didn't ask for help.

The radio was bringing an old carol across the miles. Large snowflakes were falling gently against the window. It was nearly Christmas . . .

Judy replaced the check in the envelope, placed it in her desk, locked the compartment where she stuck it. If her father had sent her a couple of handkerchiefs, a box of candy, a pair of stockings, that would have been a present. Money wasn't. It was a duty, a way of settling an obligation. Yet maybe it was the only way of bestowing a gift which he knew. She would accept it and some day he would understand that she had not wished to hurt anyone.

In the hall she passed Coralee, her arms filled with a large box from which small parcels were spilling.

"My brother drove all the way over to bring me my Christmas things since I won't be home," she explained. "Here's something for you, please, Miss Rogers. My mother sent it."

* * *

It was a box of home-made butterscotch but to Judy it was ambrosia and myrrh and frankincense. Someone appreciated her. Someone was thanking her for a kindness! She turned away because her pansy eyes were bright with tears.

Ronald called soon. He asked for her instead of Abbey. She realized that it was absurd to be glad about such a triviality. He chated for a moment, then added:

"The style contest has been postponed. You won't get an answer, or verdict, until the end of the month. It's in the morning papers. Judy, I want you to win a place."

"Thank you, Ronald. That's the nicest Christmas present anyone could give me." Then, because her voice might quiver a little if she did not change the personal trend of the conversation, she began to talk of the gaiety of the mansion.

Somewhere, hours later, a clock chimed 7, with the mellow intonations of Big Ben in its tower in London. Judy was ready for the party. She wore a crimson marganza frock which shimmered over its crimson taffeta petticoats. It was a dress that she herself had designed for a holiday party one year before. Her slippers were silver sandals and her hair was bound with a slim silver ribbon. She wished that she had the ruby which was in the pawnshop. Her father's check would help her redeem it the next time she went into the city.

Dinner was at 8. There would be 40 guests. About 10, the others would begin to come for the night's hilarities.

Count Phillippe, correctly dressed, was standing in the library, watching the lights of the trimmed trees play upon the snow. He looked tired. Suddenly Judy felt sorry for him.

"Do you know what I'd like to do?" he asked, his brilliant smile flashing. "Get a sleigh somewhere and just you and I go for a ride up one hill and down another, and have an oyster stew at a village inn, and hear carols in a church."

"Oh, so would I!" Judy agreed. "But this party—it's in your honor. You mean, you don't like it?"

"I like it very much. But I'd like the other, too. I'm two people, Judy Rogers. The one you like, and the one Abbey likes."

"Which one do you like?"

"I can't make up my mind."

You can't make up your heart, either, Judy reflected. You know you are happier with Mrs. Bedford but Abbey has some kind of an appeal. You like Marjorie, but that wouldn't work. She didn't have enough money. As for me—I can answer your questions and I don't love you, so I'm comfortable, like a hassock or a cushion.

The count asked a question so unexpectedly that Judy started. "What's the matter with Abbey? What do she and Ronald Birrell have up their respective sleeves?"

"Why, nothing that I know of. Where did you get such an idea?"

"They talk together a great deal, and when I come they stop. Don't pretend, Miss Rogers. You've noticed. Does she want to call off the wedding, do you suppose?" He smiled, as though he was not afraid. "It would be rather awkward if she did so, you know. I could make other arrangements naturally . . ."

"You are mercenary, aren't you?" asked Judy.

"Possibly. Isn't everyone?" He smiled again. "My title is an old, proud one. It will not be worn by an unappreciative countess. Mark that, Miss Rogers."

* * *

It could be all so simple, Judy realized. Abbey could tell Count Phillippe that she preferred Ronald, and the count could withdraw. But it wouldn't be that way. There were too many dollars, too much prestige involved. Everything would be as gay as Coney Island at 9 o'clock on a summer night, and then, when the wedding was over, there would be such a tangle of threads they would have to be snapped to regain any semblance of order.

Why had Ronald been so interested in a society girl who had a living to make, though? Why had he said those lilting words that she couldn't forget? Why had he been so concerned the night the count had been threatened with death?

Judy straightened her shining red shoulders and went into the den. She did not know that it was occupied until Mr. Boland's voice spoke:

"Come in and share my fire, Miss Rogers. I wanted some quietness."

"You aren't going to the dinner?"

He shook his head. Judy noticed how old and tired he looked. "I'm having a tray. I want to go over some reports."

"On Christmas Eve?"

"I think I can keep it better alone," he answered with a fleeting smile. "Christmas isn't much of an imitation of the day it used to be. I was just thinking that one year, before the mines began to yield, I gave Abbey a doll—a rag doll we got at a mining store, with beads for eyes. She slept with it until its skirts were mender past repair. This year she ordered a count."

* * *

Judy did not answer, and the man went on. He paused at last to say: "Is Abbey happy, Miss Rogers? What do you think of the count? Will he do?" Then, giving her no chance to make her noncommittal answers, he continued: "I wish she had fallen in love with some decent young American like that lad Birrell. He's, clean and fine, all the way through. The boy's honest and he's a comer. He'll be heard from. Lately, I've wondered . . .

Oh, so have I! Judy gave a silent answer. All day long and all night long. But I don't want it to be that way. I don't want to love anyone but, since I can't escape, please let me have him! Give Abbey her count! Buy her a duke or a prince! She doesn't care. She can't love, really love. . . . Then Abbey's white, strained face came back. Maybe she could. Maybe she did. Perhaps money had spoiled her and it was not her fault. If so, Ronald could help her climb back to the simple plains where the winds blew cool and strong.

Into the den came Abbey herself. The man and the girl in red caught their breath in silent admiration. Her gold hair was molten under a band of crystallite stars. Her dress was a floating blue net, deep as the sea on its bluest day, and it was spangled with all of the Christmas stars in the sky. There was a mysterious sheen, sharp as early frost, across the blue silken net, and a veil was caught behind the bandeau in her hair, and fell to the floor where it made a shimmering train.

Behind her—behind her Ronald came . . .

If you still believe nothing can be done about COLDS

HER MOTHER IS GRATEFUL. Here is Margaret Whitley at her desk in the Siler City (N. C.) school. Her mother says: "Soon after the clinic started at her school, Margaret was catching fewer colds, and getting over them quicker. It certainly opened my eyes. Since then our whole family has followed Vicks Plan."

Here are some facts that will OPEN YOUR EYES!

Number of colds—with all their discomforts and dangers—cut 24.66 per cent. Length of colds—cut 28.78 per cent. Sickness from colds—reduced more than half (50.88%). School Absences due to colds—reduced even more (57.86%).

PERFECT RECORDS. The three Kernersville (N. C.) youngsters shown above were members of a large group that followed Vicks Plan for five winter months, and had no absences due to colds. (This perfect record is unusual, but just read the results given above for all those who followed Vicks Plan.)

THE results given above are actual figures—not taken from just a few experiences—but from a great series of clinical tests in which more than 17,000 people (including 7,031 school children) took part. Thirty-seven doctors were on the supervisory staff. More than 500 supervisors and nurses assisted them.

In these clinical tests the worth of Vicks Plan was scientifically proved.

Vicks Plan is a simple guide which emphasizes the importance of proper personal care and the use of two specialized medications—Vicks Va-tro-nol and Vicks VapoRub—for relief of symptoms in different types and stages of colds.

When colds threatened—at the first nasal irritation, sniffle, or sneeze—Va-tro-nol was used to help prevent the development of many colds. When a cold got by all precautions, VapoRub was used to relieve its discomforts.

The results speak for themselves. Vicks Plan may do less for you—or it may do even more. But with such a record it certainly is worth a trial. It is easy to follow in any home. You get the full directions in each package of Va-tro-nol or VapoRub.

Helps PREVENT COLDS

Va-tro-nol is specialized medication, expressly designed for use in the nose and upper throat where most colds start. You can feel this tingling, stimulating medication go right to work to aid Nature's defenses against colds. Used in time—a few drops up each nostril at the first warning nasal irritation, sniffle, or sneeze—it helps to prevent many colds from developing. So keep it handy and use it early.

VICKS VA-TRO-NOL

RELIEVES misery of COLDS

VapoRub is a family standby all over the country for relieving misery of colds. Massaged on throat, chest and back, VapoRub works two ways at once: (1) It acts direct through the skin like a poultice; (2) Its medicated vapors are inhaled direct to irritated air-passages. This poultice-vapor action loosens phlegm—clears air-passages—eases coughing—relieves local congestion—and you soon feel comfortable again.

that "Woodward probably received a lot of Democratic votes in the primary and there's no reason to defend the Republican party against attacks from the Democrats on the Townsend issue."

A committee of five, all veterans in G. O. P. ranks, was to map the party's final drive this afternoon. Headed by A. F. Porter, the committee includes Probate Judge C. J. Anderson, C. F. Routzahn, W. H. Ferguson and Dalton Divelbiss.

Hardy said the session "will have nothing to do with the Townsend plan or Woodward's candidacy. We intend to call on the party veterans for suggestions for the rest of our campaign."

The next rally scheduled by Republicans in the city will be Wednesday night when C. C. Crabbe, former attorney general, will talk at a dinner meeting at G. O. P. headquarters. The session will be in charge of the Republican Women's council.

A series of township rallies will be launched Thursday night in the Weller township high school. Others will be held Friday night at Shelby and Saturday night at Plymouth.

Meanwhile, Woodward was to speak at a rally tonight at Delaware and tomorrow night at Mt. Vernon. The Mt. Vernon meeting, sponsored by the Townsend organization, will be held in the armory, with Robert C. Townsend, son of the founder of the Townsend plan, as the principal speaker.

Arrested near Lucas Saturday on a charge of hunting rabbits out of season, John McCondichie, 38, of 115 Lily street, was fined $50 and costs by John A. Tucker, Monroe township justice of peace.

Unable to pay, McCondichie was held today in the county jail. He was arrested by Joe Walker, a state game warden, who said McCondichie had a rabbit in his possession.

He quoted a liquor department inspector as saying he was told that his supervisor had been ordered by professional men, executives, administrators, learners, handicapped persons and employes of companies regulated by the interstate commerce commission.

The immediate effect of the law was to clip a few hours from the work of about 1,500,000 men and women and to fatten the pay envelopes of 750,000.

Andrews has issued only general definitions and regulations to guide employers, but he made it clear that a businessman who guesses wrong about application of the law will be subject to full penalties provided for violators.

"Obviously, any employer who has any doubt about whether the law applies to a particular employe should resolve that doubt in favor of the worker," he said.

The law provides a $10,000 fine, six months' imprisonment, or both, for infractions. In addition, employes may recover twice the amount of wages denied them under the approved schedules.

CAPTURE OF CANTON SEVERS HISTORIC LINK WITH AMERICA

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Japan, in taking Canton, has severed the United States' first historic link with China and has cut off the birthplace of the open door policy.

Hence Japan's occupation of south China is assuming to officials here an importance for transcending the economic effect it is expected to have on American commerce in that region.

It was through Canton that America made her initial contact with China; her first consular representative to China was accredited there in 1787; the first American missions were established in that region; for scores of years the only port of entry to China was Canton, and out of it developed the United States' present policy toward China.

America's contact with Canton goes back to 1785, when the first Americans in eastern Asia reached there on the trading ship Empress of China. They had sailed direct from New York around Cape Horn.

Stories they told of great profits to be had in trading with the Orient whetted the ambition of other merchants, especially those of New England, to extend American trade to the Orient.

Because merchants of other foreign nations having colonies and warships nearby could count on better protection than could Americans, the Yankee traders respected Chinese sovereignty and authority. They sought the friendship of the Chinese officials and generally succeeded.

Out of this attitude grew the later policy of the United States government: America was willing to respect and also preserve the sovereignty of the Chinese empire and its territorial independence.

All the United States insisted on was equality of treatment for its citizens with those of other foreign countries better able to employ force.

Youth Forum Hears Discussion on 'Inheritance.'

A discussion on the subject, "Inheritance," featured the weekly meeting of the Community Christian Youth Forum Sunday evening at the Park Avenue Baptist church.

Separate discussions on this subject were held for boys and girls and were led by Dr. W. E. Wygant and Dr. D. D. Deeds. The devotional period was in charge of Marjory Ann Hawkins. Henry Sanford, Forum chairman, presided during the business meeting.

Plans were announced for the annual Prince of Peace Declamation contest to be held Nov. 6 at the First Presbyterian church. A general discussion by forum members on the subject, "My Interests" is planned for next Sunday evening at the First Congregational church. A meeting of the executive committee will be held at 6:30 p. m. Tuesday at the Congregational church.

Now Who Carried Mansfield Sign Over to Shelby?

The Mansfield corporation limits today had been moved to police headquarters.

A large state highway sign that ordinarily marks the corporation limits of the city was in the desk-room while police were sent out to search for the post from which it had been torn.

Something of a mystery surrounded the whole thing.

Police Chief Meade K. Bates said all he knew about it was that it had been found by Shelby police after Saturday's football game in Shelby.

He didn't know where it belonged or how the marker had gotten to the neighboring city, but he suspected Shelby high school football fans celebrating their victory over Mansfield.

Lieut. Bruce Friday and Patrolman C. W. Kyler were dispatched to make a tour of all highways entering the city in an effort to locate a signless post.

Warehouse Strikers Go Back To Work In Frisco.

SAN FRANCISCO—(INS)—Distribution facilities of San Francisco and Oakland swung into full operation again today as 2,000 CIO warehousemen trooped to work, ending a 10-week-long dispute which crippled the distributing industry. Outlook for peace in the AFL strike at 35 department stores was not hopeful.

BILLS FOR T. B. CASES PILE UP

County in Dilemma, Unable to Pay for Care, Patients Too Ill to Move.

Vernon is $20 a month per patient and $100 a month for bed patients at other hospitals.

During the past few weeks 11 patients, all of them advanced cases of tuberculosis, were removed from hospitals because the county was unable to meet their bills at the institution, four from the Lima hospital, four from the Licking County sanitarium at Newark, two from Edwin Shaw Sanitarium at Akron, and one from Rocky Glenn at McConnelsville.

Several of the patients were taken from the sanitariums to private nursing homes in Mansfield where they will be allowed a small monthly fund for the foods that are necessary for tuberculosis patients.

Commissioners said today that their only hope of a solution is that the proposed half mill levy for the care of tuberculosis patients, which comes before Richland county voters next month, is given a majority vote. If the levy is turned down the county will be left without means of meeting the bills already incurred, Mitchell said.

Dr. Rehder said that the disease, which claims the lives of 200 Americans every day of the year, is not on the incerase in the county, but that the T. B. clinics, which have been made possible by the Christmas Health Seal sale has brought to light an increased number of cases.

ROBBER JAILED

Gunmen Who Got $114 at Columbus Movie Caught.

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Less than 12 hours after he allegedly held up the manager and cashier of the Markham theater and escaped with $114, Daniel Yuhas, 22, pleaded guilty today to a charge of robbery and was bound over to the grand jury under $5,000 bond.

Yuhas was taken into custody at his home early today after he was recognized by a patron of the theater.

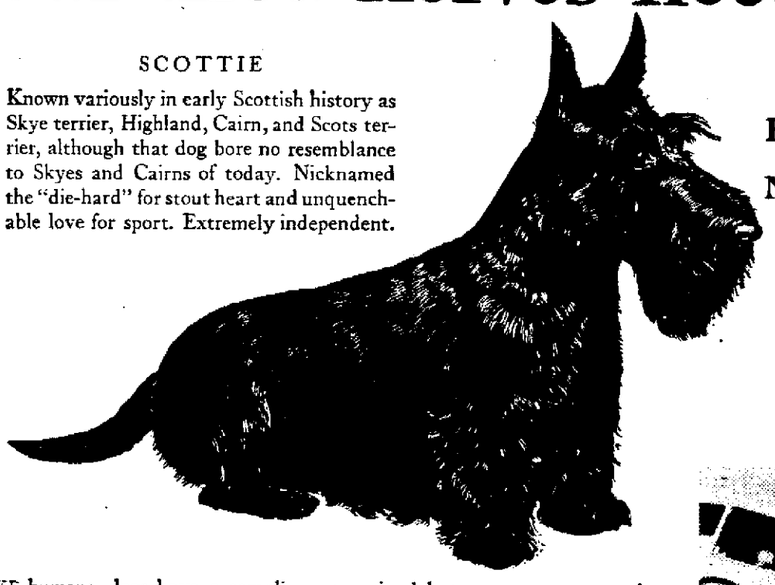
Your tired nerves need frequent relief



SCOTTIE

Known variously in early Scottish history as Skye terrier, Highland, Cairn, and Scots terrier, although that dog bore no resemblance to Skyes and Cairns of today. Nicknamed the "die-hard" for stout heart and unquenchable love for sport. Extremely independent.

HE'S GIVING HIS NERVES A REST...

AND SO IS HE

LIKE humans, dogs have a complicated set of nerves. But dogs are kinder to their nerves than we. They rest when they need rest . . . while we plunge ahead with our hurry and worry—straining our nerves to keep up with the fast pace. We can't turn back to the natural paces of life like an animal, but we can protect, soothe, and calm our nerves. Smoking a Camel can be your pleasant method for breaking nerve tension. Camels are mild, with the flavor of a matchless blend of costlier tobaccos. Smokers find Camel's mild tobaccos delightfully soothing—soothing—to the nerves.

SUCCESSFUL PEOPLE ADVISE

"Let up—light up a Camel"

DID YOU KNOW:

—that tobacco plants are "topped" when they put out their seed-head? That this improves the quality of leaf tobacco? That most cigarette tobacco is harvested by "priming"—removing each leaf by hand? Camel buyers know where choice grades of tobacco are—those that cure nicely—the mild, ripe, fragrant tobaccos. Camels are a matchless blend of finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS...Turkish and Domestic.

"HOUSEWORK, shopping, and social affairs," says busy Mrs. V. G. Weaver, "would get me strained and tense if I didn't rest my nerves every now and then. I let up and light up a Camel frequently. Camels are so soothing."

They talk of "sex loyalty," but women seem to be the worst woman-haters.

Religious street processions have been banned in Vienna. Only the Nazi goose step is sacred there.

Pension Repeal.

WEIRD pension proposals are to be on the ballots in many states in November. One state, however, is completely original. Colorado citizens will vote on repeal of the $45-a-month pension they put into the state constitution in 1936.

This proposition ought to be of particular interest to voters in the states now contemplating fancy pension schemes of their own. The Colorado law guaranteed to every resident of the state 60 years old or over, under terms which made it easy to qualify, the regular payment of a minimum of $45 a month. Then it found that it had more than 90,000 persons eligible for pensions. The law provided also for a "bonus" to be paid to all pensioners at the end of the year from whatever was left of the fund after administrative expenses were paid. This prevented building any reserve.

The pensions were to be paid by dipping so heavily into all taxes that not enough was left for nomal state needs, or to care for the blind, dependent children and others who would not receive pensions.

Colorado citizens seem to be a sadder and wiser crowd than they were in 1936, although the repeal vote is yet to be cast. The full pension has not been paid for some months, for lack of funds. The choice seems not to lie between pensions or no pensions, but between state bankruptcy or solvency. The $30-on-Thursday advocates should consider Colorado.

Lindbergh's Nazi Medal.

HERMANN GOERING, Nazi No. 2, seems to have put Charles A. Lindbergh on a hot spot by publicly hanging the Order of the German Eagle on him in Berlin. At least that is a charitable explanation of the colonel's acceptance and public wearing of the medal.

If Lindbergh is as sensitive and intelligent as he is supposed to be, he must have been much embarrassed by the honor and the time and place of its bestowal. To an evil-minded world, especially to the Russians who had treated him so handsomely on his recent visit, it must have looked like accepting pay for telling the world that the Russian air force was no good and German air strength was greater than Russia's, Britain's and France's together.

Lindbergh has not denied that statement, at least publicly. It put him "in bad" with the democratic governments, and even more so with the Russians. If true, it seemed like betrayal of our own country's best European friends and of Russian hospitality. It was as if he had been going around Europe getting confidential knowledge of military aviation in the various countries and then using it for the benefit of the Nazis.

Americans find it hard to believe any such accusations, and feel that Lindbergh must have been misrepresented. If so, he should take the trouble to explain publicly. The American ambassador, too, who appeared to sponsor the public reception at which Goering gave Lindbergh this high Nazi honor, seems to have some explaining to do.

Recovery

EVERYBODY I see or hear from is moderately hopeful," said Jesse Jones, head of the R. F. C., the other day. "Business is a little bit better. Railroads are showing a little more improvement."

Compared with recent statements of many business economists, notably Roger Babson, this might be called a masterpiece of understatement. It has been possible to read in scores of newspaper business columns lately that "all the business signs are good." Many reputable authorities have suggested that this upward movement in employment and business activity might be the start of "a real recovery."

There have been so many bitter disappointments that it is wise for business prophets not to stick their necks out, and for the public not to jump prematurely to the conclusion that the millennium is beginning. But excessive pessimism is worse than excessive optimism, for people's hopes and beliefs are in themselves part of the stuff that makes prosperity.

Government spending, of course, has a good deal to do with this business revival. Yet it may be that the time has come for it to develop through natural forces, plus popular optimism, into the real thing. There are countless needs to be supplied, quite aside from armament, and if the nation wills it and believes it, and business and government co-operate, we can go ahead and supply them on a scale that will turn every wheel and keep busy every pair of willing hands.

Stripping China.

THE most impressive and disheartening thing about the Japanese assaults on China is their terrible destruction of Chinese property—of buildings, machinery and all the means of industrial production. It is hard to resist the conclusion of an English writer, Nym Wales, recently expressed in the China Weekly Review, that "Japan's policy is to destroy all Chinese industry in Central China and turn the area into a market for her own manufactured goods; and in the north it is simply to remove all the natural resources as raw materials for Japanese industry."

In and around Shanghai alone, she says, so thorough was the looting and burning that every large industrial plant and every small workshop owned by Chinese was destroyed. The portable machinery was all sent to Japan and the rest of the equipment blown up. The same thing has been done in many smaller cities and presumably will be done in Canton.

But this is a suicidal policy for Japan herself. What good can China be to her hereafter if she turns it, as she is doing, into a poorhouse and a desert. The Chinese cannot buy her goods, and decent nations may boycott her.

People are almost losing sight of the political campaign in the new business campaign.

Hours and wages—puzzles and rages—but it will clear up eventually.

Keeping Step

—By PRESTON GROVER

What would happen if CIO and AFL leaders sat down together again to try to harmonize the House of Labor? In this third and last article on union labor's schism, Preston Grover writes of the prospects for peace among organized working men.

WASHINGTON—The clash of policies and personalities certain to develop around the council table that seeks to harmonize AFL and CIO will make the partition of Czechoslovakia look like a game of pinochle by comparison.

Neither side has backed down an inch from those forlorn days last fall when three negotiators from each side met day after day in the Willard hotel in downtown Washington. Their conference cracked up on shoals which have grown even larger since to interfere with reconciliation. Stripped of all parsley, the issue is: Whose outfit will rule, and what will be its policies?

* * *

THEY SPLIT IN 1935.

IN 1935 when John L. Lewis, then an AFL vice president, formed the Committee for Industrial Organization, the moderate differences might have been patched up between leaders less crusty than Lewis and William Green, president of the federation. Already there were several industrial unions in AFL, notably Lewis' coal miners and David Dubinsky's Ladies' Garment Workers.

But in the other mass industries, such as steel, automobiles, and tires, where Lewis wanted to organize the labor on a mass basis, were certain old-line craft unions. Gren insisted they should be allowed to keep their separate identity apart from any mass union.

Lewis pulled nine industrial unions out of AFL with a million members, the bulk of them coal miners. The CIO quickly brought in or organized 23 more unions to a grand total of 32 and a membership of perhaps 3,800,000, and it swung actively into politics, in sharp violation of an old AFL credo.

* * *

STILL A FIGHT FOR CONTROL.

AS THE price of reconciliation Lewis demands that all 32 unions be chartered in AFL before they begin negotiating terms of union jurisdiction. With his new strength he probably would have voting control in the merger. He then could decide jurisdictional disputes in favor of his own industrial unions. That would weaken the craft unions and leave many craft officials jobless.

Green refused. He proposed instead that only the old CIO unions be rechartered at once. That would assure Green a majority and leave Lewis' fledgling industrial unions to the mercies of the old line crafts. Lewis would not accept.

There are dozens of points of conflict. The Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America (CIO) is in the men's clothing field now occupied by the United Garment Workers of America (AFL).

* * *

WORKERS WANT PEACE.

THE newly chartered AFL seafarers union is a bitter rival of the National Maritime union (CIO). Several AFL crafts claim jurisdiction in the oil and refinery industry where CIO insists on supremacy.

Any joint commission such as suggested by Secretary of Labor Perkins would have many conflicts like that to settle.

To more than one astute observer, the thing looks insoluble, but there is a real peace ferment arising from the ranks of the workers themselves.

And lately, labor leaders have expressed real alarm over pending proposals for state and federal legislation to outlaw jurisdictional strikes and otherwise restrain union organizations. It is conceivable that together these influences might generate enough heat to bring about a welding.

WHITE HOPEFUL

The Human Side of the News

—By EDWIN C HILL

MAYOR RALPH C. MITCHELL of Independence, Kansas, brings his crocheting to New York and is found by the reporters running off a rose and poppy pattern for a bedspread. He says Harry Woodring, secretary of war, is a tatter, which, he implies is all right for those who like it, but, he adds, "we crocheters think a man who tats is a sissy."

As to Mr. Mitchell, he raises lions for a hobby. He pulled up his trousers leg and showed the reporters some lion bites. Then he paced his fast slipstitches to the puffs of his pipe, a way he has, and discoursed on his art. He thinks businessmen should take up crocheting, to keep them busy and make them forget their troubles.

So it would seem. But "purl one and drop three" somehow seems to have a disturbing suggestion of going in the red. Mayor Mitchell, however, says many men are taking up crocheting and knitting and are finding it a fascinating art. He got the idea twenty-five years ago, watching a railroad section hand crocheting during his lunch hour.

* *

If this piece should be read by any old-timer around St. Ignace, Michigan, or Sault Ste. Marie, I wish he would let me know what became of old Captain Ryerson, big ham-fisted skipper of the Great Lakes ore boats and the Jack Dempsey of all free-style crocheters, bar none. I am afraid he is long gone, now—one of the last of my youthful heroes.

He was ruddy, barrel-chested and profane, with a bellow like the Queen Mary's fog whistle, and he used to kick his lumbering old hog-back through a hell's broth of wind and water and black night with a roaring zest nothing less than Gargantum. And then, with a stretch of still water and his boat on an even keel, he would heave to on a lacy pattern of American Beauty roses, his favorite design. Tarry and grubby sailors in the mess room used to sit on lacy cushions done up with daisies, violets and forget-me-nots. His ship was festooned with doilies, lamberquins, vallances and what not, and he'd keel-haul any man who said they weren't pretty.

The skill of sailors in sewing, backstitching particularly, is an old story. There's many an old Main skipper turning to his knitting needles now that he no longer goes out in the skys'l yard in a gale. King George of England is both a sailorman and a knitter, swift and deft with his needles. He likes to do sweaters for his friends.

With the fashionable revival of knitting, crocheting, tatting and lace-making in England in the eighteenth century, men made the designs, many of which evolved into the basic patterns of the priceless lace pieces which are in the museums and great collections today.

Early in the last century, a rum-nosed, gouty old official of the Bank of England, a business associate of the Rothschilds, was a demon lacemaker. And to conclude these few gleanings about trousered crocheters and the like, male under-graduates of Columbia university established a knitting society a year or two ago.

* * *

Speaking of King George, there is quite a dither in the newspapers about whether Mrs. Roosevelt should curtsy to the queen if their majesties should visit the White House next year. I thought Mrs. Roosevelt disposed of the matter nicely in her indication that she thought it a concern of no great importance and that she would be guided by state department protocol. The division of protocol must, perforce, weigh the issue more carefully and promises a ruling. It is hinted that the customary forms of social greeting will suffice.

When the Dolly Gann incident was filling the newspapers a few years ago, it seemed a bit silly, all this ink spilled over who should precede whom and the country seemed to take it that way, vastly amused by it, on the whole. Diplomatic punctilio has grown slowly through the centuries and I have no doubt plausible reasons may be advanced for its elaborate rubric of formal behaviour on occasions of state. But, regardless of such recondite matters, our social usage is essentially that of a great democratic tradition, unself-conscious and with a minimum of obeisance.

Wise old Montaigne wrote something about that. I have been unable to find the pasage I wanted and can only paraphrase it, but I remember he enjoined an easy and honest reliance on simple, courteous behavior when meeting those of imposing, or different social antecedents. He thought that, even in Rome, it was better not to try to do as the Romans do.

We may be assured that King George VI and Queen Elizabeth will be received with seemly decorum. Real courtesy is international, timeless, adequate and honest and not dependent on punctilio or the lack of it. We may be feeling pretty insular these days, but that need not affect our manners when their majesties land on our shores.

Health Advice

Each Tissue Has Own Metabolism.

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

IN OUR STUDY of the body we have developed the thesis that the body is an organism for the conversion of food and oxygen into energy and tissue. The digestive system prepares the food. The respiratory system seizes oxygen from the air. They both enter the blood. And the heart and circulatory system carry the blood to all the tissues.

Now we come to the central part of the process—the actual utilization of the prepared food and oxygen in the tissues. This is called metabolism, or nutrition.

Own Peculiar Form.

Of course, every tissue has to metabolize, the brain and the skin included. Each tissue has its own peculiar form of metabolism. In the bones, for instance, calcium and phosphorus metabolism predominates. The muscles mostly utilize sugar.

Oxygen is common to all metabolic processes, so we do not need to concern ourselves with it specifically.

Each of the food elements plays a special role in metabolism. And for each there is a certain disorder, or disease.

The food elements are:

(1). Carbohydrates — starches and sugars, represented in the diet mostly by the vegetables, fruits, cereals, breadstuffs, etc.

(2). Protein—animal tissue, represented by milk, eggs and meat.

(3). Fat—represented by butter, the fat of milk and eggs, oils (olive oil) and the fat of meats.

(4). Minerals. The body contains many minerals. "Enough lime to whitewash a chicken coop," as one physiologist expressed it: It needs to have these replaced in the food—calcium, phosphorus, iron, magnesium, sodium chloride (common salt), sulphur and many others.

(5). Vitamins. These substances are probably not true metabolites, but they assist and are in fact indispensable in the processes of nutrition.

Produce Energy.

Some of these function primarily as energy producers, and some as tissue builders. The carbohydrates, for instance, are energizers. There is no carbohydrate in the makeup of the actual tissues of the body any more than there is much gasoline in the parts of your automobile engine. But the body utilizes a great deal of carbohydrate, just as your engine utilizes its weight in gasoline every so often, in order to run.

The protein and the minerals are mostly tissue builders. They are the same chemical composition as the body tissues themselves.

Fat is sometimes used as an energizer and sometimes it becomes a part of the body tissue.

Everyday Poem

—By GEORGE ELLISTON

Wifely Devotion.

She moved the cream and sugar close
To him, so that it would
Be at his hand, she brought hot cakes
Fresh from the stove. She stood

Anticipating every want
Of breakfasting, each wish;
He but stretched out a hand and there
The very food, the dish.

So had she been to him throughout
Their wedded lives, but he
Guessed not, knew only when she was Called unexpectedly

To that far city; then each thing
Was lost or out of place.
He could not find this suit or that.
Life lost its ease and grace!

A little absence often brings
A good wife future bliss;
Her lord at last appreciates
The care he then must miss.

Young America Says---

Give the Girls a Hand.

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

Feeling fighting fit today? Think you'd relish a lively brawl? Then here are the makings—and then some!

"Should a husband help his wife with the housework, even though she doesn't hold a job?"

"Yes," says young T. J. McInerney of New York City—who evidently doesn't care a hoot about his health.

"That question came up at a gathering of young married couples, and I certainly got in wrong with the men when I sided with the wives and said I thought a man could do such work without sacrificing his manly pride or rights.

"Some think that a man should help his wife only if she works, too. I contend that if a woman has a child or children, she is also entitled to such assistance. The woman who has no children and a small home to take care of, shouldn't need such help, of course.

"One of the happiest families I know consists of three children, husband and wife. The husband works hard, but that doesn't deter him from doing the dishes every night while his wife prepares the children for bed. Then they have the rest of the evening to themselves.

"I've never heard of a wife who didn't love her husband the more for such help, but I've heard countless wives complain about having to do everything about the house themselves, while Friend Hubby lazed around.

"What say, men—young and otherwise? How's about pitching in and giving the girls (wives and mothers) a hand with their housework? You won't be sissies, fellers, but REAL Men!

And if THAT doesn't raise the roof, I don't know my dynamite! Personally, as one who has been both full-time housekeeper and working wife and mother, I side with your male friends, Tim. Seems to me that housekeeping is as much a wife's job as office or factory work is her husband's ...and it's as much up to her to carry her own load and pay her way through life thereby, as it is to him. Her hours are different, but no woman with one child need work longer or harder than her husband. If she budgets her time, she has rest periods during the day, which he lacks. And there's no reason why she should feel resentful because her husband takes his much needed rest in the evening, when she has had hers during the day.

Working Wives are different, of course. And where there are three children, and no maid, the program you mention is a fair and sensible plan. But the childless wife, or the wife with only one child, who denies her husband a care-free half-hour after dinner IS A PLAIN PIKER—sez I. So now sez YOU...?

"CLEAN UP THE HOMES!" cries pretty bride Joyce Celli of Santa Clara, Cal. "BAWL OUT THE BROADCASTS ..MOP UP THE MOVIES AND THE MAGS WHICH GIVE US ONLY INFANTILE OR DEGENERATE VIEWS OF LIFE.

"Once American homes were grown-up, red-blooded affairs. Now they are polluted by a constant influx of sappy love stories or degenerate horror plots from the radio or fiction magazines. When women worked and men fought on America's frontier, our homes were clean and hardy. Give us back those clean homes. People are not all saps or fiends. They are, on the whole, decent, industrious, intelligent. But you'd never guess it from our broadcasts or love stories. THE AMERICAN PEOPLE SHOULD RISE UP AND PROTEST AGAINST BRINGING THE GUTTER INTO THE LIVING ROOM.

No finer letter than that has ever come to this desk—and I'm backing every word with all my heart. And now to the subject of the following letter — THE AMERICAN FARM WIFE, than whom there is no braver, finer, more useful citizen in the land... MAY SHE KNOW THE SWEETNESS OF A NATION'S GRATITUDE AND RESPECT WHILE HER SPIRIT GOES MARCHING ON!

"Dear Miss Robinson—

"Will you give us Young America—farm wives a word? We bear a large percentage of the future population. We strive to make our homes what we want the future America to be. We stick by our men and back them to the last stand. And always there are hardships to be faced. We wear last year's outfit without a grumble. We watch the grasshoppers eat up the results of our labors; we see the scorching rays of the summer sun parch the ground and wither all green things.

"But do we give up in the face of such discouragement? No! A thousand times NO! We're right by our husbands with our heads up, our hearts beating with hope, and a new season before us! We're here and we'll see it through!

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—At the rodeo in Madison Square Garden the loud speakers suddenly bellowed a triumphant message to the thousands of people gathered there to see the cowboys and cowgirls riding herd on a gang of mustangs.

"Ladies and gentlemen," came the deep-toned voice, "at this moment a man who has thrilled all of you countless times on the screen is in your midst. He came here, even as you and I, to see the marvels of this great festival of entertainment. Ladies and gentlemen, look! In Box 7, DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS!"

Just then a dazzling spotlight played on box seven. It was empty. There was a stunned silence. Suddenly a graceful, athletic figure leaped down the runway, nimbly vaulted the box rail, and waved a cheery greeting to about 20,000 people who were there. The crowd roared, but through the tumult I thought I heard the ghost of a sigh—probably that of the announcer, who had been saved at the last moment. Had he waited two seconds longer to make his announcement, Doug would have been out of the Garden and hurrying up Eighth avenue.

It was a quick thinking newspaper reported who halted time and thereby preserved a public slapping for the exclusive enjoyment of his own photographer. This was the little incident in a nightclub the other evening when a lady poked a boxer in the jaw, "because he had a date with me and stood me up."

She hurried into the club around midnight and, recognizing the reporter, inquired, "Have you seen Jack? I'm going to punch him in the face."

The reporter seized her hand. "Will you hold it 20 minutes?" he pleaded. Whereupon he raced to a telephone, called his city editor, and in less time than it takes to write this the photographer came bounding into the nightclub.

"Now," said the reporter to the lady, "you go into your act. There he sits over there."

The lady advanced with a menacing look in her eye. The reporter was at her heels. The photographer, lens focused on the unsuspecting prizefighter, stood waiting. With no delay the aggrieved lassie wound up and delivered a stinging right smack to the flabbergasted pugilist's cheek. Instantly there was bedlam. The boxer sat at a ringside table talking to another young lady. That's what he was doing when the party of the first part found him. The story, with pictures, made all the N. Y. papers.

Our be-kind-to-your-husband department this week contains this little quotation from "Your Life as a Woman and How to Make the Most of It," a book about women by a woman for women . . . Quote: Pipe racks are usually unsightly. The fact that he (your husband) has 20 pipes and never since you've known him has smoked more than four of them doesn't mean that he isn't convinced that he may use all 20 some day, and that he must have them within instant reach. You don't dare discard his worn-out, disreputable hats or neckties. You couldn't get him to part with a pair of old shoes though you know perfectly well he'll never wear them again. He clings to a shabby old Morris chair. He wants lights so brilliant they stun you. End quote.

Comment: I know two husbands half blind because their wives force them to dine by candle light. I myself own 20 pipes, and I like them all. This book was written by Margaret Devereux. Bravo!

A Farmer's Diary

Cider Making.

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

I HEARD the rumble of a little cider press and caught the unmistakable odor of cider making. I stopped my car beside the low gray shed and watched the farmer-operator at his work.

A low pile of pomace lay rotting in a crescent shape about the corner of the building, with a new, light colored, fresh-made layer on the top. Three Jersey cows stood knee-deep in the pile of apple pulp, and ate to their hearts' content.

A farmer on a wagon drove up with a load of red and yellow apples and scooped them into a hopper, where an endless belt elevated them to the grinder, far above. From there, the soft, moist apple pulp fell to the waiting canvas sheets, which the owner of the mill spread, one by one, to catch the crushed and "spritzing" fruit, and strain it, under pressure.

The canvas full, he wrapped the corners over, like a package, and spread another sheet. One after another six rows of apples were piled, and on these laid a close fitted layer of planks that touched the steel cross beam above. Hydraulic pressure was applied from beneath. A mighty shaft moved upward in slow, even throbs, while cider spurted in little streams out through the canvas and fell into the tank beneath.

Upward and still upward it moved more slowly, until like a thing exhausted, it almost stopped. The canvas packages were flat and hard as boards. A valve was opened and the lower platform dropped. The well-pressed pomace was unpacked and dumped outside, upon the accumulating heap. The farmer drove his wagon to the end of the building, filled his barrels with a siphon hose, paid for the service, and drove away.

Sometimes this cider is used next day for boiling applebutter. It may be put in the cellar and inoculated for vinegar. And some there are who let it ferment and use it as an alcoholic drink. In this dangerous, degraded form, I have seen the product of a friendly apple orchard bite like a poisonous serpent and blight the whole neighborhood about.

EX-COMMUNIST ON U. S. BOARD, WITNESS SAYS

Legion Official Claims Roosevelt Appointee Affiliated With 'Reds.'

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—The Dies un-American activities committee was told today that a recent appointee of President Roosevelt—Dr. Louis Bloch, member of the Federal Maritime Labor Board — was a member of the Communist Professional unit in San Francisco.

The statement was made by Harper Knowles of Oakland, Calif., chairman of the Radical Research committee of the American Legion, in testimony on the activities of Harry Bridges, CIO maritime union leader, on the west coast and reported Communist.

Still Active, Claim.

"Attention is called to the fact that Dr. Louis Bloch was a member of the Communist Professional unit in San Francisco," Knowles testified. He added that Dr. Bloch is now active in Washington in the League for Peace and Democracy an organization to aid the Spanish Loyalist cause.

The League for Peace and Democracy has been called a "Communist front" organization by numerous witnesses before the committee.

Asked whether Dr. Bloch still is a member of the Communist unit, Knowles disclaimed any knowledge of his present status.

Chairman Dies (D) Texas, of the committee leaned forward and indicated strong interest in the statement regarding Dr. Bloch, the maritime labor board was created under the new Merchant Marine act to settle labor troubles in the shipping industry.

The witness had previously charged that Harry Bridges, CIO maritime union leader on the Pacific coast, has followed "the Communist line."

Knowles, under questioning, went into the history of union organization among longshoremen and seamen on the west coast. He asserted that his evidence "indicates that Bridges followed out orders of the Communist party in organizing waterfront workers."

BEGINS CHECK OF SCHOOL FIRE ALARM SYSTEMS AND FIRE DOORS

On the recommendation of the state fire marshal and the Mansfield board of education, J. B. Moke, superintendent of Mansfield's school buildings, today was investigating the fire alarm systems and fire doors in the city's schools.

Moke said he would give special attention to the West Fifth street school where the fire marshal recommended the installation of a modern alarm system and outside knobs on the fire doors.

Although Charles J. Seeburger, Mansfield fire chief, urged the installation of automatic fire alarms in eight of the city's elementary schools, Moke said the systems already in use in all but the Fifth street school had been approved by the state.

Seeburger criticized the systems which require telephone calls to the fire departments in the event of a fire at one of the eight schools. In the other buildings, the alaram can be turned in to the fire station directly from the school alarm.

Only Senior high, John Simpson and Hedges junior high schools, and the Bowman school have the automatic alarms, the fire chief said.

He added that nine buildings in addition to the West Fifth school do not have modern fire door equipment. They are John Simpson junior high, Bowman, Hedges, Western avenue, Carpenter, Brinkerhoff, Bushnell, Newman and Prospect schools.

THREE HURT IN COUNTY TRAFFIC AS 16 DIE IN OHIO

Motorcyclist Injured When Machine Hits Auto; Car Strikes Pedestrian.

For the fourth consecutive week-end Mansfield escaped without a major traffic accident, and only three persons were injured, none seriously, in mishaps on Richland county highways. Throughout Ohio however, 16 persons were killed by automobiles.

John Rittinger, 21, of 390 Grace street, was treated at General hospital early Saturday evening for lacerations received when the motorcycle he was driving struck the rear of an automobile on the Ashland hill, state highway patrolmen reported. Leo Stortz, 120 East Temple court, riding tandem, the officers said, escaped injury.

Gene Yarmon, 19, of 282 Second street, taken to the hospital after he was struck by an automobile while walking on Central avenue near Orange street at 8 p. m. yesterday, was treated for lacerations and abrasions and released.

Order Car Held In Garage.

The driver of the car, James Wheeler, 544 Park avenue west, told police he did not see Yarman until he loomed up in front of the car. The officers after testing the brakes ordered the car held in the garage. Wheeler was not arrested.

In another accident at 5:30 a. m. Saturday, Lola Stahl, 135 Hedges street, was taken to the hospital when the car in which she was riding with Christ Kilzer, 286 Orange street, collided with a machine operated by V. C. Wyatt, 171 Lind avenue, on Springmill street. Miss Stahl sustained a neck injury.

Near Painesville yesterday two children were killed and 14 members of their families injured when two cars collided and plunged into banks along the highway. The dead was Marian Nyrlon, 9, of Perry, and Philip Bushnell of Geauga county.

Only 20 Absent Voters Ballots Cast to Date.

With only 20 absent voters' ballots cast so far with the county board of election, little interest has been shown in the Nov. 8 election, Deputy Clerk Walter Underwood of the election board said today.

The election board had disabled voters ballots ready today. They will be received until the night of Nov. 5, while college students attending school out of the county may vote until the night of Nov. 3, election officials said.

BLAMES PRICES IN INCOME DROP

O. S. U. Economist Says Farm Revenue Down 15 Per Cent.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—A decline in market prices rather than adverse crop conditions was blamed today by F. L. Morison of Ohio State university department of rural economics for what he said was a 15 per cent drop in gross farm income in Ohio during the first nine months of this year.

Morison said that the decrease amounted to $38,807,000, of which $13,000,000 was in grain, $8,000,000 in livestock and $6,000,000 in dairy products. The smallest decline was in poultry and eggs, he said.

VIENNA BISHOP DENIES SPEECH SCORED HITLER

Cardinal Innitzer, in Reply to Attacks, Says He Sought Peaceful Co-operation.

(By United Press)

VIENNA—A circular letter by Cardinal Innitzer, archbishop of Vienna, repudiating attacks on him by Nazi newspapers, was read to the congregations in all Roman Catholic churches yesterday.

The attacks on the cardinal were a sequel to the riots which started Oct. 7 after a youth service in St. Stephen's cathedral.

In his letter the cardinal said:

"Assertions published by the Deutsches Nachrichten Buro (the German official news agency) and the Austrian papers require an answer on my part.

"I declare that the Austrian bishops' declaration of last March 18 (after the German absorption of Austria) was dictated by an honest will for peaceful co-operation with the present legal government.

"Later developments, however, included measures deeply shocking to every Catholic.

Hitler Not Attacked.

"In my sermon at the Catholic youth service at St. Stephen's Oct. 7 I did not attack the chancellor (Adolf Hitler) with a single word, nor have I formulated attacks against him, the state or the Nazi party. The young people's demonstration after the service was neither foreseen nor desired by me. It is untrue that youths sang political songs on this occasion.

"I never spoke the words 'I have decided upon a fight and I am ready and wait it' which were attributed to me. . . . I did not overlook the historically significant hour in which my own homeland, the Sudetenland, was returned to the reich, but I thanked the fuehrer along with other German cardinals and ordered thanksgiving services and ringing of church bells.

"I still have the conviction that all Catholics are bound in conscience to fulfill their duties to the state. However, a bishop at all times must fulfill his oath to defend the right of God and the church."

THIS MEDICINE "VENDOL" WAS BIG HELP TO WEAK STOMACH

Ashland citizen tells how it relieved his indigestion, gastritis, sour stomach, shortness of breath and other troubles due to constipation.

MR. M. B. SMITH

Last week the famous medicine Vendol was introduced in Mansfield. It is new here, but already widely used in many nearby Ohio cities, under the personal direction of a trained specialist from the Vendol Company in Baltimore, Md., who has headquarters at Weinberger's Drug Store. Many citizens, both local and from nearby towns, have tried this root, herb and alkaline remedy and have received astonishing benefits from it.

Mr. M. B. Smith a well known citizen living on route 5 Ashland Ohio, tells how Vendol helped him as follows

"I had suffered for years with troubles in my stomach my food digested poorly, turned sour and the gas was so bad it caused shortness of breath, palpitation and even kept me from sleeping sometimes

I had pains across my back and every morning I'd awake feeling stiff and my muscles felt tired instead of rested. Often, dizzy feelings rushed over me and my tongue was coated, breath was bad and frequently suffered from headaches All of these troubles I'm sure came from constipation, because I was never regular without taking medicine.

"After reading how Vendol had helped other people suffering the same way, I got a bottle. It showed good results so I got more, and truly, I've never had anything do so much good as Vendol has

"My constipation was relieved and I never feel dizzy any more, the soreness and stiff muscles have been relieved and I now eat hearty meals yet am entirely free of gas, sourness and bloating Vendol is good medicine, so I am glad to recommend it and hope my friends here and in other cities who know me, will give it a trial."

Vendol is a wonderful mixture of good old roots and herbs with valuable alkalines that relieve constipation, then the stomach is relieved of gas, acid risings and cramps, dizzy feelings and spots before the eyes disappear and the sore, stiff, aching muscles are relieved. Vendol is pleasant to take quick to act and costs but a few cents a day.

Come to Weinberger's Drug Store, 32 N. Main St., and ask for the Vendol Man. He will courteously explain how this remarkable medicine will help you. Come today if possible—there is no charge. Most all leading druggists now sell Vendol.
